Net International Reserves increased US$ 358 million

In July, the net international reserves (NIR) of the Central Reserve Bank of Peru amounted to US$ 8 700 million, up US$ 358 million from end-June. The increase is due to higher deposits of the financial system (US$ 286 million) and the public sector (US$ 46 million) at the Central Bank, as well as investment yields (US$ 29 million), which were partially offset by temporary purchases of foreign currency (US$ 1 million) and the withdrawal of the Insurance Deposit Fund deposits (US$ 1 million). The foreign exchange position amounted to US$ 2 602 million, up US$ 13 million from end-June.

Banks' current account balance at S/. 129 million

In July, the banks' current account held at the Central Bank was S/. 129 million on a daily average basis, lower than the range announced by the Bank (S/. 135-145 million), because of the banks' lower liquidity demand.

offset by overnight deposits (S/. 86 million), temporary purchases of CDBCRP (S/. 30 million), Insurance Deposit Funds deposits (S/. 12 million) and the redemption of swap operations (S/. 5 million).

Macroeconomic expectations as of August

From July 20 to 25, the Central Bank carried out the Macroeconomic Expectations Survey upon a sample of 30 financial entities (among banks, insurance companies, pension administrator funds and consumption credit institutions). The survey shows that market participants expect a decrease in inflation, interest rates and the foreign exchange rate.

Inflation July 2001: 0,17 percent

In July, the Consumer Price Index (CPI) increased 0,17 percent, as a consequence of the increase in non-tradable product prices (1,9 percent), compensated by the fall in tradable product prices (-0,6 percent) and fuel prices (-2,0 percent). Twelve-month inflation was 2,2 percent (versus 2,5 percent in June).

The underlying inflation is a measure of the Consumer Price Index trend that excludes high volatility products such as non-tradable food, fuel and transportation prices. Underlying inflation was -0,09 percent in July and 2,2 percent in the last 12 months (versus 2,6 percent in June).

Informative Note on the Monetary Program: August 2001

The BCRP reduces its reference interest rate in domestic currency from 10,0 to 9,0 percent and from 6,5 to 6,0 in foreign currency, as well as the benchmark for monetary operations to a S/. 130 – S/. 140 million range.

- 1. For the month of August, the Board approved a range of S/. 130 S/. 140 million on a daily average for its operating target, lower than the July range (S/. 135 S/. 145 million), in line with the lower demand for current account balances observed in July as a consequence of the flexibility in the conditions of the monetary regulation credits of the Central Bank. For this reason, the current account balance in July was S/. 129 million, which fell below the announced range.
- 2. The Central Bank Board of Directors also established that the following interest and commission rates would be used in domestic-currency Central Bank operations since August 3:
 - a. For monetary regulation credits in domestic currency, the effective interest rate would be the weighted average of the interbank interest rate, or 9,0 percent, whichever is highest. It should be noted that the new level of the reference interest rate for monetary regulation credits implied a reduction for the third consecutive month. Since July 6, this rate was 10,0 percent.
 - b. For overnight deposits in domestic currency held by banks at the Central Bank, the effective interest rate will be 4,0 percent. This rate is effective since March 2.
 - c. For foreign exchange temporary purchase operations (swap operations), the commission will be 0,0138 percent per day, equivalent to an effective 9,0 percent annual cost. This cost is lower than that effective since July 6 (10,0 percent).
- 3. The following interest rates will be used in foreign-currency operations:
 - a. The effective annual rate for monetary regulation credits will be 6,0 percent. This rate implied a reduction with respect to the rate effective since July 6 (6,5 percent).
 - b. For overnight deposits held by banks at the Central Bank, the rate is equivalent to the average obtained by the Central Bank for similar deposits abroad.
- 4. The Central bank grants monetary regulation credits in domestic and foreign currency on a regular basis.
- 5. If justified by financial conditions, the values mentioned above could be modified in order to ensure the attainment of the objective to preserve monetary stability.
- 6. Attached to this informative note is a summary chart on the monetary policy decisions in the last 6 months.
