1/ Preliminary data.

2/ The difference between revenue and payments in cash is reflected in the cash flow. However, since 2018, in the case of business treatment entities (ETEs), included in other, the information recorded corresponds to the accrued basis. The concept of profits refers to the difference between income and expenses that are recorded on an accrual basis and that are shown in the income statement.

1/ Preliminary data.

2/ The difference between revenue and payments in cash is reflected in the cash flow. However, since 2018, in the case of business treatment entities (ETEs), included in other, the information recorded corresponds to the accrued basis. The concept of profits refers to the difference between income and expenses that are recorded on an accrual basis and that are shown in the income statement.
