Net International Reserves at US$ 8 725 million

As February 19, the net international reserves (NIR) of the Central Reserve Bank of Peru amounted to US$ 8 725 million, up US$ 58 million from end-January and US$ 112 million from end-2001. The increase between February 1 to 19 mainly obeys to higher financial system (US$ 77 million) and investment yields (US$ 13 million), which were partially offset by the withdrawal of public sector deposits (US$ 31 million). On the other hand, the net international position amounted to US$ 2 930 million, up US$ 4 million from end-January.

Banks' current account at the BCR (January 2001 - February 2002)

* Last 30 day average.

On February 14, 15, 18 and 19 the Central Bank issued CDBCRP by S/. 101 on average. The average interest rates of these issuances was 2,2 percent.

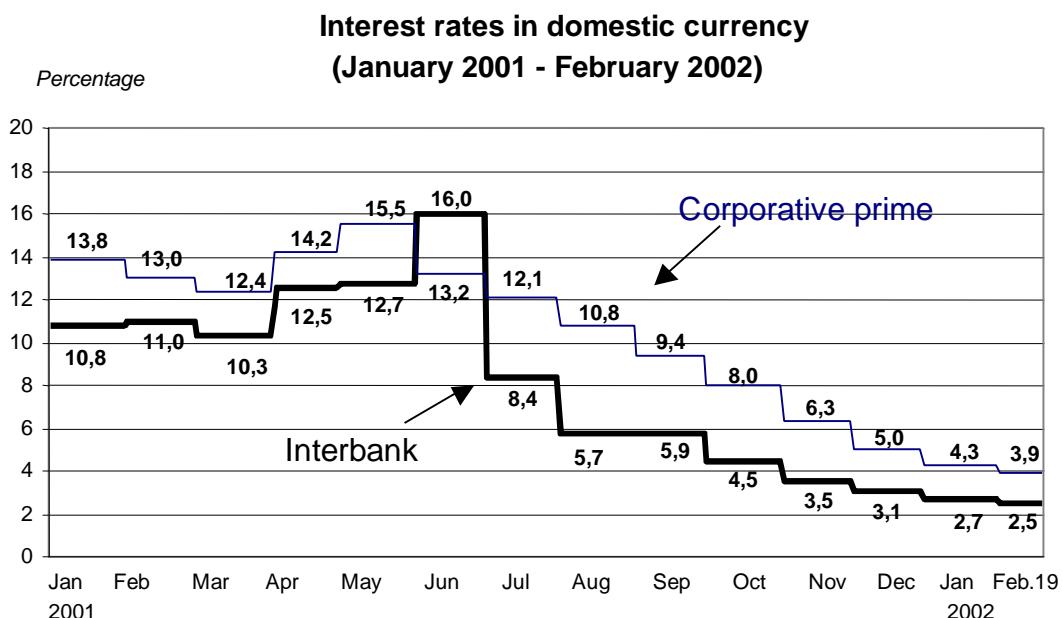

BANCO CENTRAL DE RESERVA DEL PERU

Average monetary base at S/. 5 689 million

As of February 19, the daily average balance of the monetary base was S/. 5 689 million, down 1,3 percent from January, reflecting the lower seasonal cash demand after the end-of-the-year holydays. On February 19, the monetary base amounted to S/. 5 683 million, 1,3 percent (S/. 72 million) higher than end-January. The operations that explained this increment in the monetary base were the withdrawal of the redemption of CDBCRRP (S/. 55 million), temporary purchases of bills (S/. 30 million) and other outlays (S/. 13 million), which were partially offset by public sector deposits (S/. 27 million).

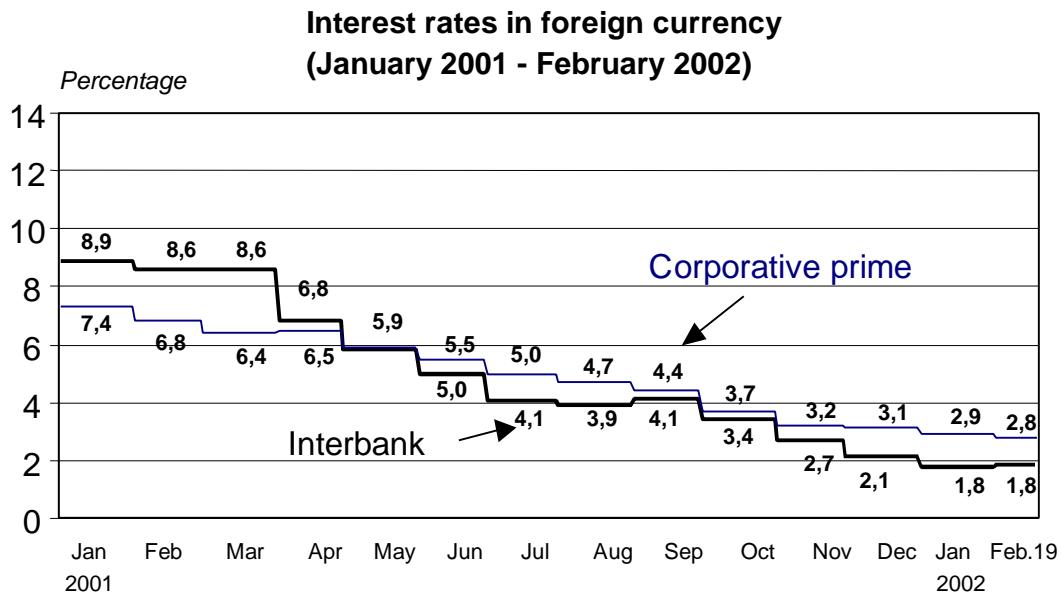

Interest rates decrease

As of February 19, the interbank interest rate in domestic currency was 2,5 percent, lower than in January (2,7 percent) and than in December (3,1 percent). The corporate prime interest rate declined from 5,0 percent in December to 4,3 percent in January to 3,9 percent as of February 19.

In foreign currency, the interbank rate passed from 2,1 percent in December to 1,8 percent as of February 19. On the other hand, the corporate prime interest rate in foreign currency declined from 3,1 percent to 2,8 percent over the same period.

Peru's bonds spread at 4,7 percent

As of February 19, the spread between the yield of Peruvian bonds and the interest rate on US Treasury bills (a proxy for the country risk perceived by investors) was 4,7 percent similar to January, but lower than the levels in January (4,8 percent), December (5,1 percent), November (5,8 percent) and October (6,7 percent).

Exchange rate at S/. 3,476

From February 12 to 19, the ask exchange rate in the banking system decreased 0,1 percent. A similar pattern was recorded in the Venezuelan and Argentine currencies, whereas the other currencies in the Region appreciated against the US dollar.

As of February 19, the flow of new sales of forward operations was US$ 86 million, due to higher forward operations partially offset by public's (US$ 28 million) and Banco de la Nación's purchases (US$ 31 million) in the spot market, thus resulting in a lower banks' exchange position in US$ 28 million.

Global demand increased 0,4 percent in 2001

In 2001, the global demand grew 0,4 percent thanks to the growth in exports (7,2 percent), which offset the fall in domestic demand (0,7 percent).

In the IV quarter of 2001, the global demand increased 1,8 percent compared with the same period a year ago (when it fell 1,1 percent), as a result of the growth in exports (8,4 percent) and, in a lesser extent, in domestic demand (0,6 percent). The increase in domestic demand reflected the growth in private consumption (1,4 percent), public consumption (7,7 percent) and public investment (4,9 percent).

On the other hand, gross domestic investment declined 6,5 percent, as a consequence of the drop in fixed gross investment (2 percent) and inventories. Private investment decayed 3,7 percent (capital goods imports declined 17 percent) mainly due to the lower activity in construction (-6,9 percent). However, this fall is lower than in the previous quarters.

Exports of goods and services expanded 8,4 percent, whereas imports declined 4,9 percent, reflecting the drop in capital goods acquisitions, that exceeded the increase in consumer goods imports.

Current account deficit at 2 percent in 2001

In 2001 the current account deficit of the balance of payments amounted to US$ 1 101 million (equivalent to 2,0 percent of GDP), US$ 526 million lower than in 2000. The trade deficit decreased in US$ 220 million, whereas the service and income deficits were lower in US$ 50 million and US$ 246 million, respectively, compared with 2000. The former reflect the lower foreign direct investment whereas the latter lower interest debits as well as lower transfers and non-distributed profits.

In the fourth quarter, the current account deficit of the balance of payments amounted to US$ 216 million (equivalent to 1,6 percent of GDP), down US$ 351 million from the same quarter of 2000, reflecting the lower trade and income deficits in US$ 139 and 167 million, respectively. Compared with the third quarter, the current account deficit increased in US$ 87 million due to the higher credits in insurance and reinsurance which increased in that quarter as a consequence of the earthquake in southern Peru as well as lower travel balance since foreign visitors concentrate their comings in the third quarter of the year .

In 2001 the financial account was US$ 67 million lower than in 2000 due to higher short-term capitals. The latter reflects the reduction in the financial sector's external debt which offset the higher public and private capital inflows.

In the IV quarter of 2001, the financial account (US$ 70 million) was US$ 82 million lower than in the third quarter given the lower public and private capital inflows (US$ 82 million and US$ 101 million, respectively). Compared with the same quarter in 2000, the financial account was US$ 44 million higher due to higher private sector revenues (US$ 62 million) and the decrease in short-term capitals (US$ 7 million). the latter was partially offset by the lower public sector's capital entry (US$ 24 million).

Public deficit in 2001: 2,5 percent

In 2001 the public deficit reached 2,5 percent of GDP, 0,7 points lower than in 2000. the fiscal adjustment made in the first half of the year as well as the improvement in state-owned enterprises and Essalud allow this better result.

BANCO CENTRAL DE RESERVA DEL PERU

In the IV quarter, the overall balance of the non-financial public sector recorded a deficit of 5,7 percent of GDP, 2,9 points higher than in the previous quarter. This increase obeys to the higher central government non-financial expenditure (1,9 percent of GDP), reflecting the seasonal effect of the close of the fiscal year as well as the increase in wages and remunerations granted in September and the higher expenditure in capital and goods and services. Current revenues dropped reflecting the reduction in the IES from 5 to 2 percent.

Compared with the same quarter in 2000, the public deficit increased 0,6 points due to the worsening of the central government accounts, which were partially offset by the improvement in state-owned enterprises and Essalud. It should be noted that the primary deficit increase from 2,0 percent in the IV quarter of 2000 too 3,4 percent, reflecting the expansionary fiscal stance.
