Exchange rate: S/. 3,472

As of June 30, the exchange rate was S/. 3,472. In June, the average exchange rate (S/. 3,478) was 0,3% lower than in May. In the year, the exchange rate has increased 0,2% and remained steady through last 12 months.

In real terms, the exchange rate would not change during June, since the difference between external and domestic inflation (0,3 percentage points) is offset by the nominal appreciation. It should be noted that the 0,9% external inflation obeys to the depreciation of the US dollar against our main trade partners' currencies for the first time in 4 months.

In June, the balance of net forward sales soared US$ 6 million, whereas the exchange position increased US$ 12 million.

Spread of Global bond 2012 at 4,08%

As of June 30, the spread of the Peruvian Global bond 2012 and the EMBI+ sovereign bond were 4,08 and 4,39%, respectively. Over June, the spread of the global bond averaged 4,10%, down from May (4,63%), whereas the spread of the sovereign bond decreased to 4,39 from 4,75% last month. The decrease of the Peruvian spreads reflected the improvement in foreign currency-denominated long term sovereign debt of Standard and Poor's (from BB- to BB).

International markets

In June, the gold quotation increased 1,9% to US$ 392 per Troy ounce due to the depreciation of the US dollar against the yen (2,3%) and euro (1,1%) that provoked a greater demand from European and Asian investors.

The copper quotation fell 1,9% (from US$ 1,24 to 1,22) reflecting the increased supply of BHP Billinton and Phelps Dodge Corp. and lower imports from China.

In the period under analysis, the zinc quotation decreased 1,0% to US$ 0,46 per pound following the fall of the other metals. However, current zinc inventories are equivalent to 5 week of consumption, compared with one week or less in the other metals.

The WTI oil price dropped 5,5% (to US$ 38 per barrel) after the OPEC announcement regarding a 2,5 million of barrels as well as the recovery of US inventories.

The US dollar depreciated 1,1% against the euro and 2,3% against the yen, reflecting the concern about the US fiscal and current account deficit, which over the I quarter of the year reached a US$ 145 billion record. On the other hand, the yen was favored by the upwards revision of Japanese economic growth forecast for 2004.

The 3-month Libor passed from 1,32% to 1,61%, whereas the yield of US Treasury bonds with a 10 year maturity fell from 4,65 to 4,58%. On June 29-30, the FED announced a 25 bps increase in its policy interest rate, as anticipated by the market. The FED also announced gradual increases in interest rates, and that current inflation obeys to transitory factors.

Lima Stock Exchange (LSE)

In June, the LSE decreased 1,4% in its General Index and 2,7% in the Blue Chip Index. However, in the year these indices record cumulative increases of 18,5% and 19,7%, respectively.
