

CENTRAL RESERVE BANK OF PERU

WEEKLY REPORT

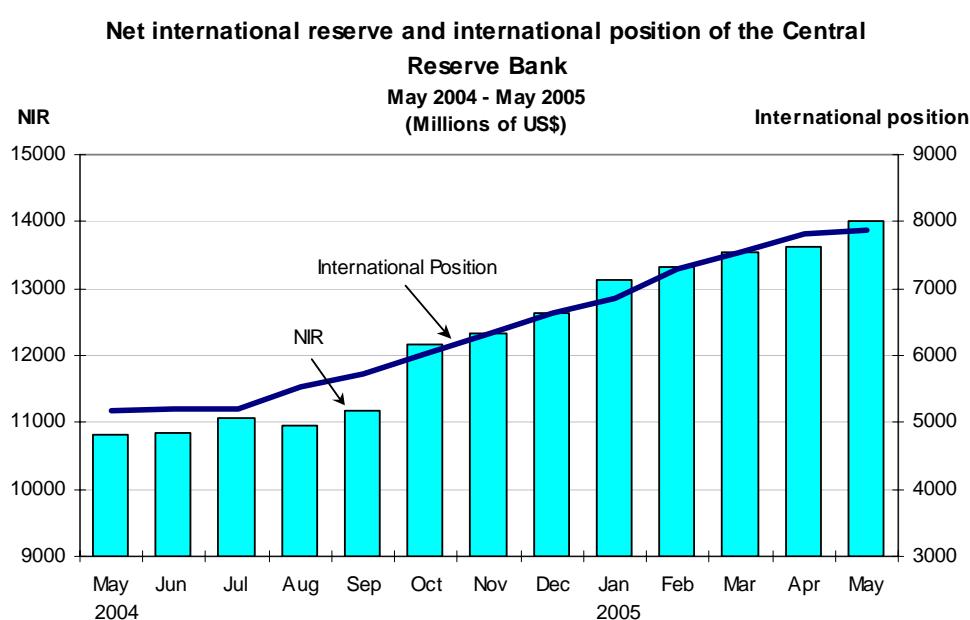

Nº 22 – June 3, 2005

Net international reserves at US$ 14 016 millions

As of May 31, net international reserves (NIR) amounted to US$ 14 016 millions, up US$ 387 millions from end-April. This increase was due to net purchases of foreign exchange by US$ 151 millions (purchases over-the-counter mechanism by US$ 251 millions and sales to the public sector by US$ 100 millions), higher financial system and public sector deposits in US$ 340 and US$ 12 millions, respectively, and investment yield in US$ 1 million. This evolution was partially offset by changes in the value of currencies and gold in US$ 117 millions.

Year-to-date, NIRs have increased US$ 1 385 millions, whereas the Central Bank's international position (US$ 7 859 millions) grew by US$ 1 220 millions.

Interbank interest rate at 3,01 percent

Between May 1 and 31, the average interest rate in domestic currency was 3,01 percent.

Monetary operations

Between May 26 and June 6, the Central Bank made the following operations:

- Auctions of CDBCRP with a: i) 5-month maturity by S/. 30 millions, in three occasions, at an average interest rate of 3,78, 3,75 and 3,73 percent and ii) 1-year by S/. 20, S/. 30 and S/. 30 millions at 4,40, 4,36 and 4,33 percent, respectively.
- Auctions of temporary purchase of CDBCRP and BTP with a: 1-day by S/. 375 and S/. 100 millions at 3,11 percent, in the two occasions.

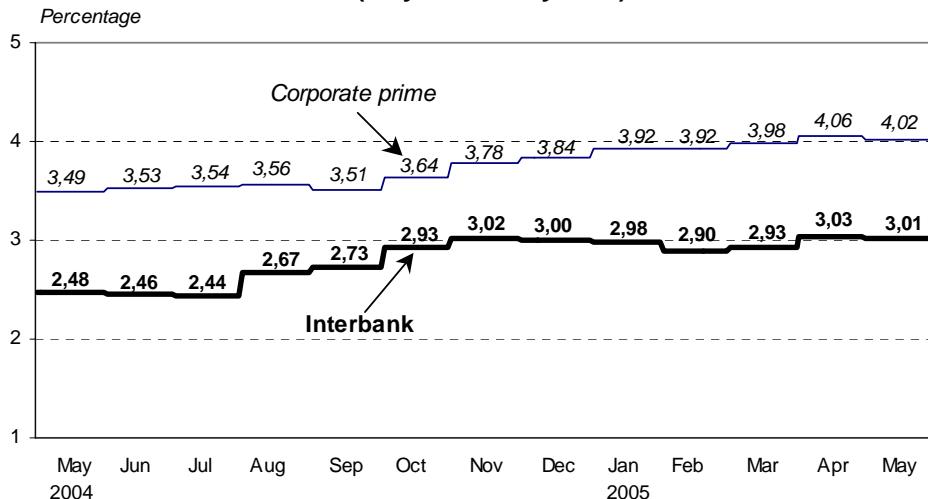

- Foreign currency purchase over-the-counter mechanism by US$ 34 millions at an average exchange rate of S/. 3,255.
- Overnight deposits on May 26, 27, 30 and 31 de May by S/. 47,1; S/. 9,0; S/. 16,7 y S/. 104,1 millions, respectively.

Corporate prime interest rate at 4,02 percent

In May, the 90-day average corporate prime interest rate in domestic currency decreased from 4,06 percent in April to 4,02 percent, meanwhile the rate in dollars increased from 3,48 to 3,71 percent, associated to the increase of the federal funds interest rate.

Monthly average interest rate in domestic currency
(May 2004 - May 2005)

Monthly average interest rate in foreign currency
(May 2004 - May 2005)

Exchange rate: S/. 3,256

In May the average exchange rate was maintained, by fourth consecutive month, in S/. 3,26 per dollar. The year-to-date appreciation reaches 0,8 percent and the year-to-year appreciation was 6,7 percent. The end of period exchange rate showed a slight appreciation passing from S/. 3,258 at the end of April to S/. 3,256 per dollar as of May 31.

The relative stability in the exchange rate was given in a favorable regional context. The majority of spreads diminished after the announcement of the Federal Reserve to continue with its monetary policy of gradual adjustments, by which they elevate the interest rate from 2,75 to 3,0 percent, in line with it was expected by the market. In the same sense, the currencies of the region were appreciated. The Brazilian real appreciated 4,9 percent, the Mexican peso 1,3 percent and the Chilean peso 0,4 percent. The evolution of these currencies differs with it was observed with the euro and the sterling pound which depreciated for the second consecutive month vis-à-vis the dollar.

In this context, the Central Bank intervened through purchases over-the-counter mechanism by US$ 251 million, compensated by the US$ 100 million sales to the Public Treasury. The interventions were concentrated on the first two-week period of the month.

The bank's balance of net forward sales decreased US$ 25 million, passing from US$ 564 million at the end of April to US$ 538 million in May and the bank's exchange position was reduced from US$ 387 million to US$ 358 million in the same period.

b. Banks' exchange position	536	340	387	358

The real exchange rate maintains stable

In May the real exchange rate did not register a significant variation with respect to April. To this evolution was added the minimum differential among the variation of the external prices (0,2 percent) and the domestic prices (0,1 percent). In annual terms, the real exchange rate increased 0,1 percent as a result of the nominal appreciation (6,7 percent) and of the differential of external prices (9,1 percent) and domestic (1,8 percent).

It is worth to mention that the month's variation of external prices was explained basically by the consumer prices in the countries of commercial partners. The basket of currencies was maintained stable during May due to that, as monthly average, the appreciation of the dollar vis-à-vis the euro, the sterling pound and the Canadian dollar was compensated with the depreciation of the dollar vis-à-vis the yen and the currencies of the region, among which emphasize the Brazilian real and the Mexican peso.

Core inflation was 0,11 percent in May and 1,17 percent over the last twelve months. On the other hand, the non-core component of inflation was 0,13 percent this month and 3,03 percent in annual terms.

Core inflation excluding foodstuffs and beverages amounted to 0,14 percent this month (0,92 percent in the last twelve months). Finally, the imported inflation was 0,08 percent in May and 3,68 percent in annual terms.

Monetary base as of May 31, 2005

The monetary base balance as of May 31 was S/. 9 402 millions, up 0,8 percent (S/. 74 millions) from end-April. In average terms, the year on year rate of growth of the monetary base in this period was 27,6 percent (25,5 percent in April).

The main explanations for this result were purchases of foreign currency over-the-counter mechanism (US$ 251 millions or

S/. 817 millions) CDBCRP's net redemptions (S/. 387 millions). These operations were partially offset by higher public sector deposits (S/. 426 millions), the redemption of temporary purchases of securities (S/. 385 millions), sales of foreign currency to the public sector (US$ 100 millions or S/. 325 millions) and higher financial system overnight deposits (S/. 46 millions).

Banking system monetary accounts as of May 7, 2005

Through last 4 weeks, liquidity in domestic currency increased 0,3 percent (S/. 88 millions), to a balance of S/. 27 634 millions. Credit to the private sector in the same currency augmented 0,3 percent (S/. 35 millions), to S/. 11 901 millions. However, in annual terms this aggregates grew by 33,0 and 13,7 percent, respectively.

Liquidity in foreign currency increased 4,4 percent (US$ 418 millions), to US$ 9 893 millions (an annual growth rate of 7,1 percent). Credit to the private sector in the same currency augmented 2,5 percent (US$ 250 millions), to US$ 10 149 millions (an annual growth rate of 4,6 percent).

Spread of the Global Bond 2012: 1,82 percent

In May, the Peruvian Global Bond 2012 spread diminished from 2,34 at the end of April to 1,82 percent, while the Peruvian EMBI + did the same from 2,34 to 2,06 percent. The emerging markets were favored by the smaller yields of the US Treasuries, by the null variation of the United States core inflation in April and of the absence of signs that the FED would increase its interest rate in a more aggressive way. In the case of Peruvian bonds, their value increased significantly due to the growth of the tax collection in April.

International markets

In May, the average price of gold diminished 1,8 percent to US$ 422 per ounce troy due to the weakening of the euro (its smaller level in 8 months) vis-à-vis the dollar.

During the same period, the average copper price descended 4,3 percent to US$ 1,47 per pound. It is worth to mention that in May, a position liquidations in basic metals by investment funds was produced, motivated by the strengthening of the dollar. Besides an inventory increment was registered in the Shanghai Metal Exchange.

During May, the zinc average price descended 4,2 percent to US$ 0,56 per pound due to the profits takes by investment funds. Nevertheless, since the second week of May, a recovery in the prices of the basic metals is perceived; among which the zinc has been benefited by the continuous fall in the London Metal Exchange inventories and the favorable perspectives of the metal in the next 2 years.

In the month, the price of oil diminished 5,7 percent to US$ 49,8 per barrel responding to the increase in the inventories of crude oil and gasoline in the United States. According to the Department of Energy, as of May 30, the crude oil inventories reached 334 million barrels, 8,4 percent upper to the same week average of the last 5 years.

In average terms, the dollar was appreciated 2,1 percent vis-à-vis the euro and depreciated 0,3 percent with respect to the yen. The dollar was seen prompted by the employment growth in April, the reduction of the trade deficit in the United States in March and the higher economic growth rate in the United Stated respect to Europe. In turn, the euro was affected by the negative of France to adopt the new European Constitution and the dissemination of unfavorable macroeconomic data.

Between April 30 and May 31, the 3-month Libor rose from 3,21 to 3,34 percent and the yield of the US Treasury with a 10-year maturity decreased from 4,20 to 3,98 percent. The demand of US

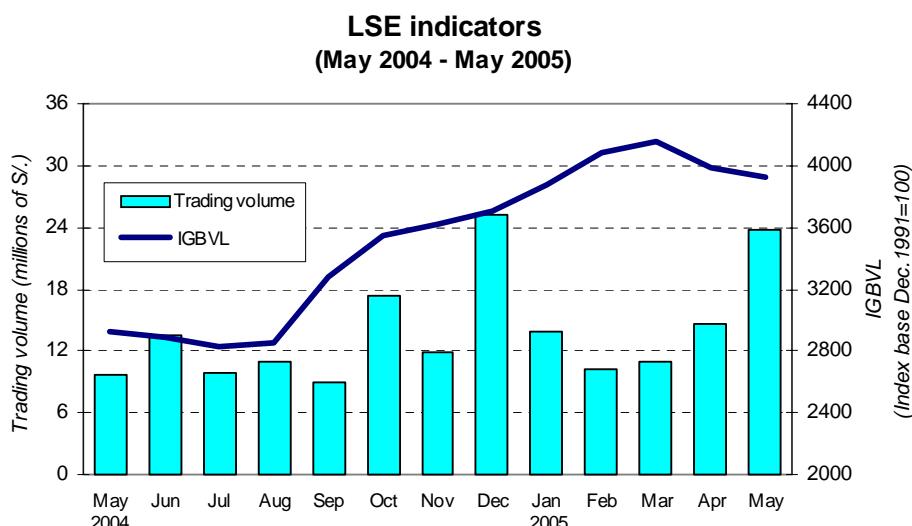

Treasuries was increased due to the confidence of the FED in controlling inflation and the downgrade of the General Motors and Ford's credit qualification to a speculative degree.

Lima Stock Exchange

In May, the General and the Selective indexes decreased 1,5 and 0,8 percent, respectively. After presenting a monthly accumulated fall until May 13 of 7,1 and 7,3 percent, respectively; a recovery was observed since May 16 vis-à-vis the advances in the basic metals. In the second half of the month, a recovery in the price of the main mining companies was produced (Volcan, Atacocha, El Brocal and Corona). Year-to-date, the indexes increased 6,8 and 7,0 percent, respectively.
