

CENTRAL RESERVE BANK OF PERU

WEEKLY REPORT

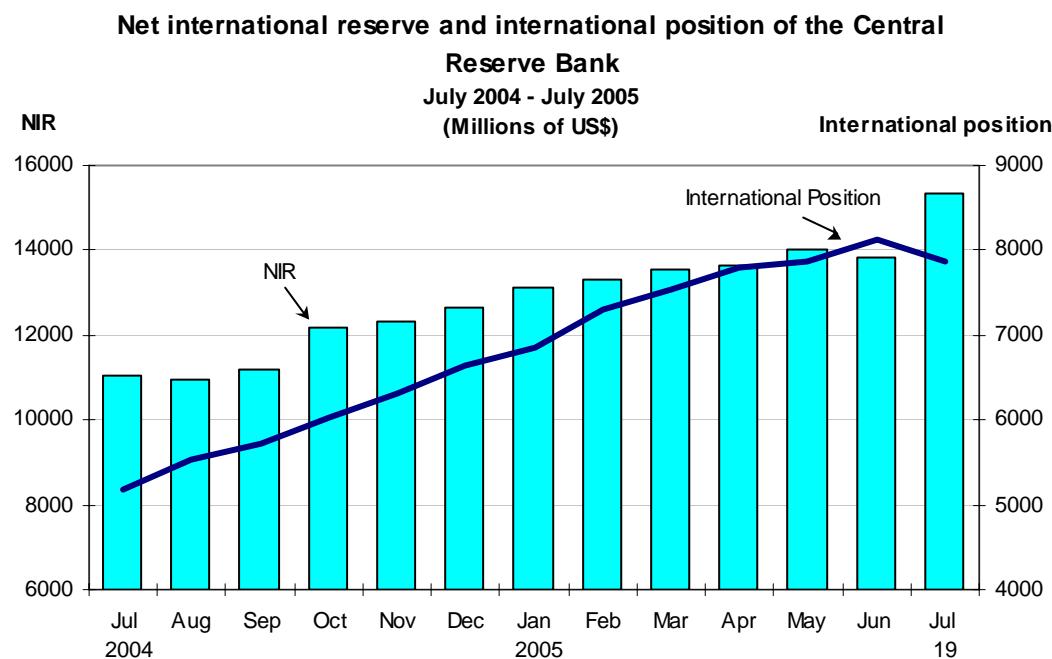

Nº 29 – July 22, 2005

Net international reserves at US$ 15 340 millions

As of July 19, net international reserves (NIR) amounted to US$ 15 340 millions, up US$ 1 522 millions from end-June. This increase was mainly due to higher public sector deposits (mainly by the placement of sovereign bonds), financial system and Insurance Fund Deposit deposits in US$ 1 593 millions, US$ 167 millions and US$ 1 million, respectively; purchases of foreign exchange by US$ 653 millions, and investment yield in US$ 20 millions. This evolution was partially offset by sales of foreign currency to the public sector by US$ 875 millions and changes in the value of currencies and gold in US$ 37 millions.

Year-to-date, NIRs have increased US$ 2 709 millions whereas the Central Bank's international position (US$ 7 872 millions), grew by US$ 1 233 millions.

Between July 1 and 20, the average interest rate in domestic currency was 3,0 percent.

Monetary base as of July 15, 2005

The monetary base balance as of July 15 was S/. 10 185 millions, up 6,4 percent (S/. 609 millions) from end-June, due to the higher seasonal demand by national holidays. In average terms, the year on year rate of growth of the monetary base in this period was 31,6 percent (28,3 percent in June).

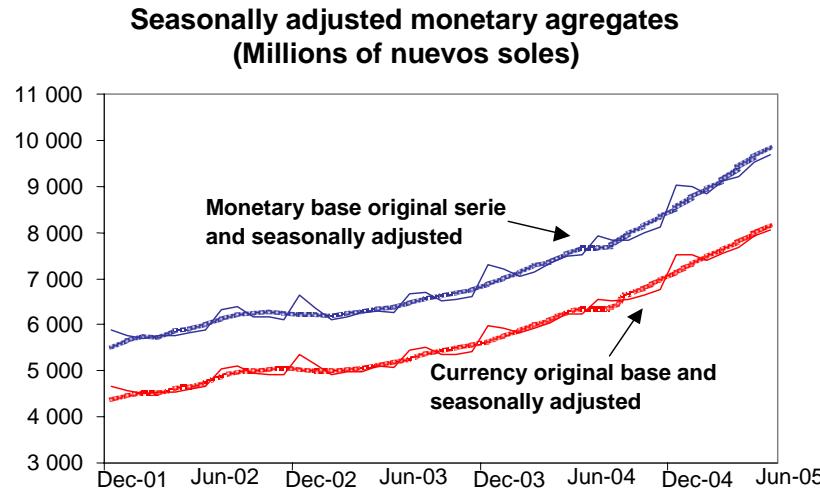

The main explanations for this result were purchases of foreign currency over-the-counter mechanism (US$ 615 millions or S/. 1 999 millions), redemption of CDBCRRP's (S/. 452 millions) and lower public sector deposits (S/. 192 millions). These operations were partially offset by sales of foreign currency to the public sector (US$ 552 millions or S/. 1 795 millions) and higher financial system's overnight deposits (S/. 252 millions).

Seasonally adjusted monetary aggregates

This report includes seasonally adjusted cash and monetary base series (see table 20). The methodology used is TRAMO/SEATS based on historical data for the period January 1994 to June 2005, adjusted by non-working days in Peru. A direct method is used in the case of monetary base, since the indirect method (seasonally adjusting of its components -cash and reserve deposits-) had a high seasonality residual. The estimated factors will hold for the rest of the year.

Banking system monetary accounts as of June 30, 2005

In June, liquidity in domestic currency increased 2,2 percent (S/. 612 millions), to a balance of S/. 27 994 millions. Credit to the private sector in the same currency augmented 1,0 percent (S/. 122 millions), to S/. 12 245 millions. However, in annual terms this aggregates grew by 35,5 and 16,3 percent, respectively.

Liquidity in foreign currency decreased 0,7 percent (US$ 68 millions) to US$ 10 003 millions (an annual growth rate of 5,2 percent). Credit to the private sector in the same currency augmented 1,6 percent (US$ 163 millions), to US$ 10 481 millions (an annual growth rate of 5,9 percent).

Current revenue in June 2005 totaled S/. 3 421 million, up 11 percent from a year ago. Tax revenues amounted to S/. 2 758 million, up 5 percent due to higher collection of income tax (13 percent), tariffs (12 percent), VAT (5 percent) and other taxes (52 percent) –the latter includes the Temporary Tax on Net Assets- which were partially offset by lower excise tax collection (28 percent), reflecting the reduction on oils in the second half of 2004, as well as higher tax refunds (12 percent) and the ending of the Extraordinary Solidarity Tax (S/. 38 million collection as of December 2004). In general, higher tax revenues reflects higher activity, imports and terms of trade as well as the effects of the Financial Transaction Tax and Temporary Tax on Net Assets.

Non-tax revenues amounted to S/. 483 million, up 60 percent from a year ago due to royalties and canon on oil and gas (172 percent) and new mining royalties (S/. 63 million, including 2004 second semester clearance).

In June 2005, non-financial expenditure amounted to S/. 2 732 million, up S/. 215 million from June 2004 or 9 percent. This increase obeys mainly to higher current expenditure (S/. 209 million). Capital expenditure rose S/. 6 million (to S/. 291 million), due to the increase in gross capital formation (S/. 4 million).

External financing was negative in S/. 721 million (US$ 221 million) –disbursements amounted to US$ 12 million and amortization to US$ 233 million. On the other hand, domestic financing was positive in S/. 759 million. This month the government placed sovereign bonds by S/. 238 million, made amortizations by S/. 297 million and deposit withdrawals by S/. 841 million.

minimum. The country risk continued reacting favorably to the Standard & Poor's upgrade from stable to positive of Peru's foreign currency long-term debt perspective.

International markets

Between July 13 and 20 the gold price diminished 0,4 percent to US$ 423 per Troy ounce due to the decrease of petroleum prices and to the smaller trade deficit of the United States in May.

Over similar period, the copper price rose 1,4 percent to US$ 1,66 per pound due to speculations about the United States and Zambia standstill mines would accelerate the fall of the inventories. The inventories in the London Metal Exchange were around 27 thousand MT, their smaller level since July of 1974.

The zinc price diminished 0,4 percent to US$ 0,54 per pound affected by technical sales of investment funds. Nevertheless, in the last days the price slightly recovered due to the strike in the Trail mining complex (Canada) property of Teck-Cominco.

The WTI oil price dropped 5,5 percent to US$ 56,7 per barrel after a smaller fall than it was expected of the United States inventories, reflecting a smaller impact of storms in the petroleum activities in Mexico gulf.

Between July 13 and 20, the US dollar depreciated 0,4 percent against the euro and 0,9 percent against the yen. The trade deficit of the United States in May diminished 2,7 percent with respect to April to US$ 55,3 billion. Besides, the net capital inflows rose to US$ 60 billion, the highest level in 3 months and in line with expectations. On the other hand, in China, the government revalued the yuan in 2,1 percent from 8,28 to 8,11 yuanes per dollar, thus abandoning the fixed exchange rate that established for a decade. From now on, the value of the yuan will be connected with a basket of currencies of the China's main trade partners and will fluctuate in a band of +/- 0,3 percent.

The 3-month Libor increased from 3,60 to 3,63 percent, whereas the yield of the 10-year matured US Treasury passed from 4,16 to 4,20 percent, due to the interest rates rise expectation after the publication of economic indicators showing the soundness of the economic growth in the United States.

Lima Stock Exchange

As of July 20, the General and Blue Chip Indices of the Lima Stock Exchange increased both 3,0 percent. Among the first financial statements emphasizes the growth of the net utility in the second quarter of 2005 with respect to similar quarter of the previous year, of the mines Corona (in 85 percent), Southern Peru (in 28 percent) and Atacocha (in 17 percent). In the year, these indices accumulate profits of 12,1 and 10,5 percent, respectively.
