

CENTRAL RESERVE BANK OF PERU

WEEKLY REPORT

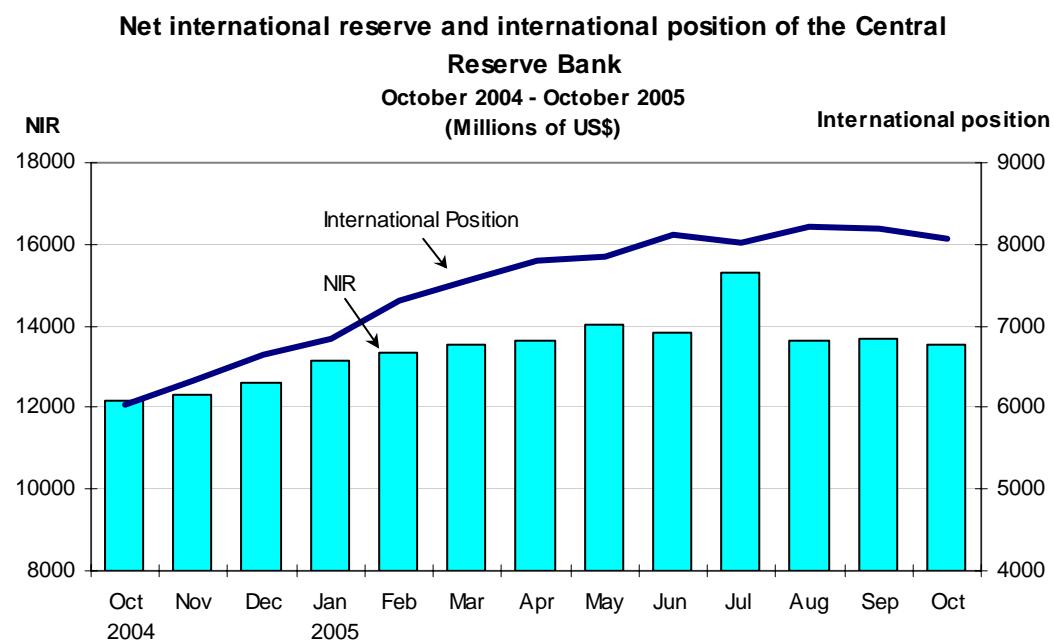

Nº 44 – November 4, 2005

Net international reserves at US$ 13 547 million

As of October 31, net international reserves (NIR) amounted to US$ 13 547 million, down US$ 149 million from end-September. This decrease is explained by lower public sector deposits in US$ 75 million, sales of foreign currency over-the-counter mechanism by US$ 34 million, sales of foreign currency to the public sector by US$ 91 million and changes in the value of currencies and gold in US$ 12 million. This evolution was partially offset by higher financial system and Insurance Deposit Fund deposits in US$ 56 million and US$ 2 million, respectively, and investment yield by US$ 5 million.

Year-to-date, NIRs have increased US$ 916 million whereas the Central Bank's international position (US$ 8 077 million) grew by US$ 1 438 million.

In October, the real exchange rate depreciated 1,5 percent with respect to September. The nominal depreciation (2,2 percent) was compensated by the differential between external inflation (-0,6 percent) and domestic inflation (0,1 percent). It is worth to mention that the change of the external prices of the month is explained basically by the appreciation of the dollar with respect to the basket of our main trade partners.

Monetary base as of October 31, 2005

The monetary base balance as of October 31 was S/. 10 293 million up 1,2 percent (S/. 124 million) from end-September. In average terms, the year on year rate of growth of the monetary base in this period was 30,3 percent (31,1 percent in September).

The main explanations for this result were CDRBCRP's net redemptions (S/. 693 million) and the temporary purchases of securities (S/. 65 million). These operations were partially offset by sales of foreign currency to the public sector (US$ 91 million or S/. 309 million), CDRBCRP's net placements (S/. 170 million), sales of foreign currency over-the-counter mechanism (US$ 34 million or S/. 114 million), higher financial system overnight deposits (S/. 59 million) and higher public sector deposits (S/. 11 million).

Banking system monetary accounts as of October 15, 2005

Through last 4 weeks, liquidity in domestic currency increased 2,6 percent (S/. 723 million) to a balance of S/. 28 647 million. Credit to the private sector in the same currency augmented 3,4 percent (S/. 435 million) to S/. 13 343 million. However, in annual terms this aggregates grew by 26,6 and 21,9 percent, respectively.

Liquidity in foreign currency decreased 1,4 percent (US$ 144 million) to a balance of US$ 10 082 million (an annual growth rate of 5,1 percent). Credit to the private sector in the same currency diminished 1,3 percent (US$ 130 million) to US$ 10 055 million (an annual growth rate of 3,9 percent).

Country risk: 1,76 percent

In October, the EMBI+ Peru average spread was 1,77 percent, higher than in the previous month (1,50 percent). In end-of-period terms, this spread passed from 1,38 in September to 1,76 percent in October. Sales of institutional investors and expectations upon new Fed's interest rates' raises related to inflationary pressures in the US explained this increase. It should be noted that on November 1st, the FED increased its reference interest rate in 25 bps for a twelfth consecutive time to 4 percent.

International markets

In October, gold's average international price was US$ 470 per troy ounce, up 2,9 percent from September, reflecting the inflationary risks in the US and higher physical demand. It should be remarked that on October 11, the gold reached its maximum quotation in 18 years: US$ 476,8 per troy ounce.

Copper average price also recorded an important increase this month: 5,2 percent to US$ 1,84 per lb. –on October 20, it recorded a historic maximum of US$ 1,90– led by higher demand from China, which grew by 9,4 percent in IIIQ05. Besides, after a temporary recovery –between July and September– LME inventories has declined further from 84 thousand MT on September 23 to 63 thousand MT on October 31.

Zinc average price soared 6,5 percent in October to US$ 0,68 per lb. following the drop in LME inventories –from 531 to 488 thousand MT– and reports regarding lower than expected world supply of this ore.

In October, WTI oil dropped 4,7 percent to US$ 62,4 per barrel due to the lower demand in the US –according to the US Energy Department-. Furthermore, US crude inventories increased from 305 to 319 million of barrels, whereas gasoline inventories passed from 196 to 197 million of barrels.

In October, in average terms, the US dollar appreciated 1,7 percent against the euro and 3,3 percent against the yen due to the differential between US interest rates and those in the Eurozone and Japan. On the other hand, net entry of capital flows to the US came to US$ 91 billion in August, the highest level since April 2004, more than enough to cover the August trade deficit (US$ 59 billion).

Between September 30 and October 31, the 3-month Libor increased from 4,07 to 4,26 percent, whereas the yield of the 10-year-matured US Treasury bond passed from 4,33 to 4,56 percent due to the expected new increases in FED interest rates. The market is anticipating a new raise in FED's next meeting (December 13) in 25 bps to 4,25 percent.

(October 2004 - October 2005)

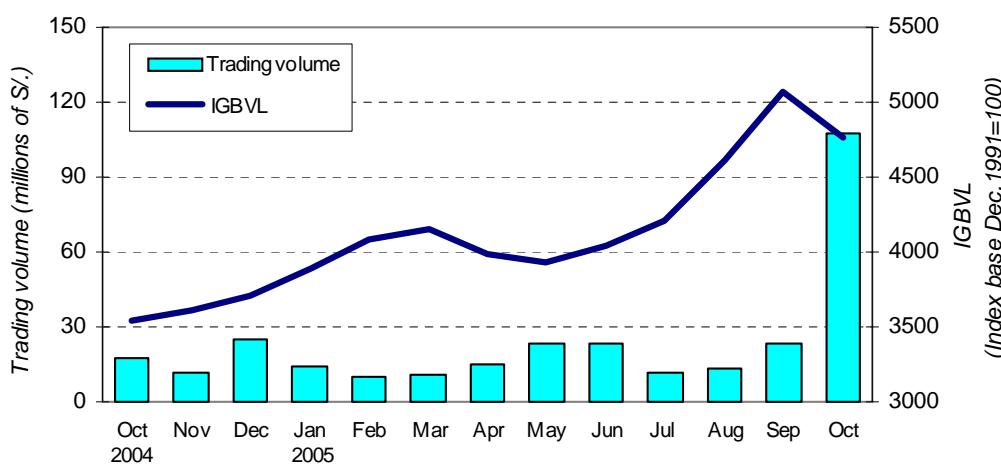

Lima Stock Exchange

In October, the General Index decreased 6,0 percent whereas the Blue Chip Index fell 5,6 percent, due to poorer financial statements in mining and industrial enterprises. However, in the year these indices have increased 28,4 and 22,7 percent, respectively.
