(June 2005 - June 2006)

Corporate Prime Interest Rate at 5.81 percent

Showing a similar behavior to that of the interbank interest rate, the 90-day corporate prime rate in soles fell from 5.99 in May to 5.81 percent as of June 7, while the corporate prime rate in dollars increased from 5.97 to 6.09 percent at the same period.

Central Bank's Monetary Operations

Between June 1 and 7, the Central Reserve Bank made the following operations:

- Auctions of temporary purchases of BCRP and BTP Certificates of Deposits for a daily average of S/. 675 million involving 1 day, 3 day, 1 month and 3 month maturities. The average interest rate ranged between 4.47 and 5.20 percent.
- Overnight deposits on June 5 for S/. 29 million.

Net International Reserves reached US$ 14,210 millions

As of June 6, net international reserves (NIR) reached US$ 14,210 million, decreasing US$ 25 million with respect to the level recorded at the close of May, 2006. This is explained by the banking system's lower deposits in the BCRP for a total of US$ 14 million, less public sector deposits of US$ 5 millions, lower prices of gold (US$ 27 million), and lower investment yield for a total of US$ 1 million.

So far this year, however, NIRs have increased by US$ 113 million. Moreover, as of June 6, the Central Bank's international position (US$ 7,527 million) has grown US$ 14 million with respect to May and has accumulated US$ 77 million year-to-date.

Exchange rate at S/. 3,26 per US Dollar

As of June 7, the interbank exchange rate appreciated 1.4 percent with respect to the end of May, falling from S/. 3.30 to S/. 3.26 per dollar. After some volatility caused by the uncertainty generated following the first electoral round, the exchange rate has been showing a decreasing tendency vis-à-vis the electoral process, and higher supply of foreign currency by the banks. On June 5, the Central Bank purchased US$ 2.5 million at an average exchange rate of S/. 3.25 per US Dollar.

As of June 6, the balance of net forward sales has increased by US$ 17 million, and the banks foreign exchange position has decreased by US$ 66 million.

Trade Surplus increased 223 percent in April

In April 2006, Peru's trade posted a monthly surplus of US$ 625 million, recording a 223 percent increase (US$ 432 million) with respect to April 2005. In this way, the trade balance has exhibited positive results over the past 36 consecutive months. In annual terms (from May 2005 to April 2006), the surplus was US$ 5,681 million (68 percent higher than that of the same period in 2005).

Trade Balance Annual: April 2003-April 2006
(Thousand of millions accumulated of US$ in the last 12 months)

Exports in April (US$ 1739 million) grew by US$ 482 million (38 percent) with respect to those of April last year. This represents an annual total of US$ 18 547 million, a 33 percent increase with respect to April 2005.

Traditional exports totaled US$ 1,354 million, showing a 49 percent increase (US$ 447 million) with respect to April last year. This evolution was associated with higher exports of gold (US$ 132 million or 67 percent), copper (US$ 168 million or 63 percent), zinc (US$ 83 million or 142 percent), lead (US$ 54 million or 159 percent), and oil crude and oil derivatives (US$ 46 million or 39 percent).

Non-traditional exports, on the other hand, amounted to US$ 372 million, which represents an increase of US$ 36 million (11 percent) with respect to the same period in 2005. In the case of non-traditional exports, this evolution was influenced by steel & metallurgical, jewelry, textile and fishing exports, which compensated the reduction produced in terms of exports of chemical and metal-mechanical products.

Imports in April totaled US$ 1,114 million, which represented a 5 percent increase with respect to April 2005. This was due to higher purchases of raw materials (9 percent) and capital goods (12 percent) for industry. In annual terms, imports amounted to US$ 12,866 million, which represents a 22 percent with respect to the same period last year.

Terms of trade in April increased 21 percent due to a rise in the average prices of exports (30 percent) stemming from the better international prices of commodities. On the other hand, prices of imports grew 7 percent. In terms of volumes, exports increased by 6 percent.

TERMS OF TRADE (1994=100)

Monetary Base as of June 7, 2006

The monetary base balance as of Jun 7 (S/. 10,845 million) decreased 0.1 percent (S/. 16 million) from end-May. In average terms, the monetary base's annual growth rate in this period was 16.0 percent (15.9 percent in May).

By sources, the operations that contributed the most to the contraction of the monetary base were higher public sector deposits (S/. 268 million). Conversely, the monetary base grew due to higher temporary purchases of securities (S/. 167 million) and to lower overnight deposits (S/. 64 million). BCRP purchased foreign currency over-the counter-mechanism for US$ 2.5 million (S/. 8 millions) in the first week of June

Bank Monetary Accounts as of May 22, 2006

In the past four weeks, liquidity in domestic currency decreased 0.1 percent (S/. 22 million), reaching a total of S/. 28,778 million (annual growth of 5.1 percent). Credit to the private sector in this currency increased 3.9 percent (S/. 645 million), totaling S/. 17,057 million (annual growth of 40.8 percent).

Liquidity in foreign currency increased 2.0 percent (US$ 226 million), showing a total of US$ 11,545 million (annual growth of 14.8 percent). Credit to the private sector in dollars decreased 0.1 percent (US$ 10 million), totaling US$ 10,260 million (annual growth of 0.3 percent).

International Markets

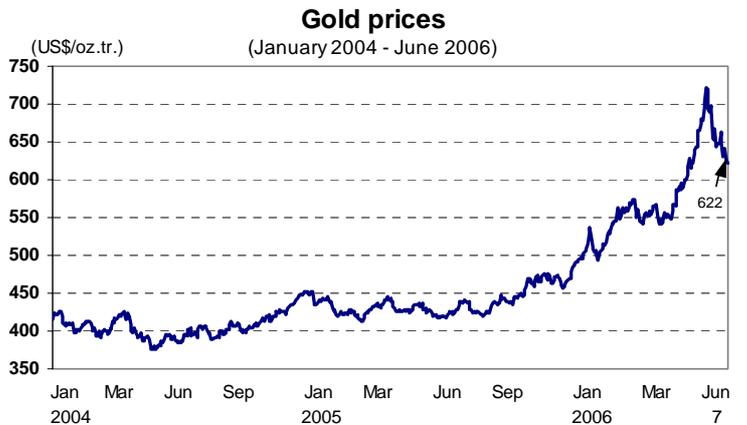

Country Risk Drops to 164 Basis Points

From May 31 to June 7, the country risk measured as the spread of the EMBI+ Peru dropped from 178 to 164 bps, as a result of better prospects and lower uncertainty for economic agents given the culmination of presidential elections. According to Standard & Poor's, the new economic policy agenda of newly elected president, as well as the political support he may gather, both to strengthen governance and to implement economic policies, will influence a possible change in this rating.

Commodity Prices Fell

Between May 31 and June 7, the gold quotation dropped from US$ 647 to US$ 622 per troy ounce. This 4 percent decrease is explained by various factors including market expectations over higher reference interest rates in the United States, given reports of inflationary risks in this economy. Also, by the reduction of geopolitical fears, following the US' decision to continue conversations with Iran.

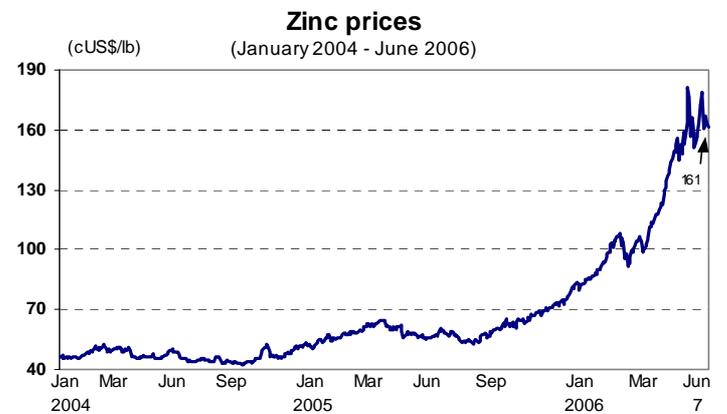

A drop in the demand for jewelry –this sector being the world's largest buyer of gold– is another important factor in the evolution of gold quotation. However, some central banks expressed interest in diversifying their reserves by buying this metal, which contributed to offset this evolution.

In the week of analysis, the price of copper declined to US$ 3.37 per pound (8.7 percent), given market signs of a cooling of world's demand for copper. It is worth mentioning that copper stocks in the London Metal Exchange increased to 112 400 MT (equivalent to approximately 3 days of global consumption). In addition, the Southern Copper Corporation announced that it will shortly buy the Toromocho mine site in Peru, a mining project with copper reserves of around 1,260 million MT.

The price of zinc fell 9 percent to US$ 1.61 per pound. The increase of interest rates produced in industrial countries in order to curb inflation has generated fears of a lower growth and demand for commodities, which has affected the market. In addition, Korea Zinc Co. sold its shares on the zinc smelter Big River Zinc to AIM-listed Zinc Ox Resource, thus encouraging greater supply-side responses in the market earlier than expected.

From May 31 to June 7, the price of WTI oil dropped 0.7 percent to US$ 70.82 per barrel. The proposal made by the European Union to solve geopolitical tensions in the Middle East was supported by the US, and contributed to decrease the fears that supply shortages might occur in Iran or in some other country in the Gulf. The EU offer would include help to acquire a light-water nuclear reactor in exchange for giving up uranium enrichment.

Moreover, another factor explaining the decline in the price of oil crude is the US government's reports indicating that gas inventories have increased for the sixth consecutive week, and that refineries will promptly culminate their seasonal maintenance, which would increase production.

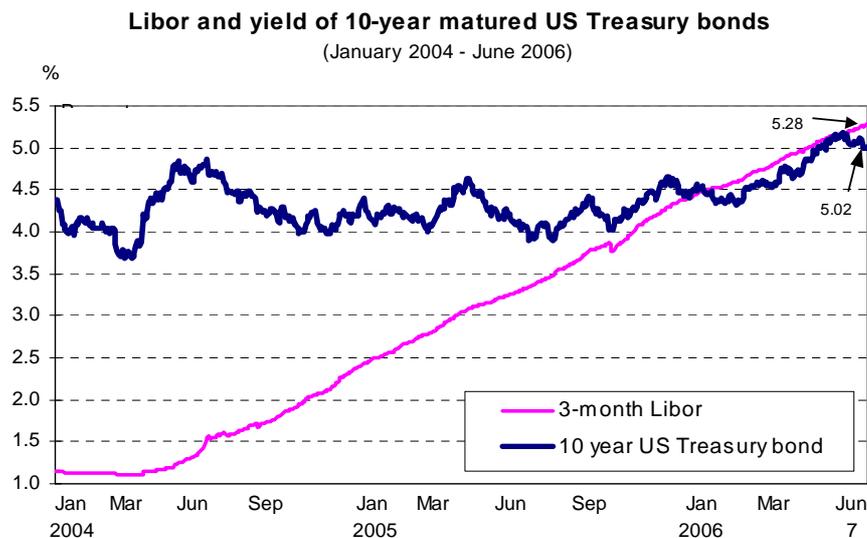

The Dollar Appreciated against the Yen and the Euro

In the week of analysis, the US dollar appreciated 0.2 percent against the euro and 0.8 percent against the yen. The dollar's increased was by greater expectations that the Federal Reserve would soon increase the interbank reference rate. However, the euro was strengthened due to European Central Bank (ECB), this Thursday 8 in the meeting of monetary policy, anticipates to increase its interest rate in 25 bps up to 2.75 percents, before inflation expectations. The weakness of the yen continued because the Tokio Stock Exchange fell, diminishing the probability of Bank of Japan rise its interest rate on July.

Yield of the US Treasuries with a 10-year maturity decreased to 5.02 percent

From May 31 to June 7, the 3-month Libor increased from 5.24 to 5.28 percent, whereas the yield of the US Treasuries with a 10-year maturity decreased from 5.12 to 5.02 percent. The yield of the US Treasuries with a 10-year maturity fell, after investors found higher security in payments of fixed rent of government debt, while the global market of securities fall due to the higher profit-takes.

Stock Market rise 7,7 percent

As of Jun 7, the General and Blue Chip indices of the Lima Stock Exchange little rise 7.6 and 7.7 percent, respectively. The General and Blue Chip indices have recover by the end of presidential elections, the reports that show a growth of 6.4 percents and better opportunities in terms of mining and farming securities, in a context in which price of metals still maintain higher. So far this year, these indices have increased 61.6 and 70.9 percent, respectively.
