Monetary operations

Between February 1 and February 7, 2007, the Central Bank made the following monetary operations: i) auctions of BCRP Certificates of Deposit with 1-day, 3-day, 1-week, 1-month, 6-month, 1-year, 2-year and 3-year maturities for a daily average of S/. 394.6 million. The average interest rate on these operations fluctuated between 4.41 and 5.88 percent; and ii) overnight deposits in domestic currency for a total of S/. 16.8 million.

New historical record of international reserves: US$ 17,996 million

As of February 6, net International reserves (NIRs) increased US$ 147 million with respect to the close of January and amounted to US$ 17,996 million. This increase in the balance of NIRs was mainly due to deposits of the financial system (US$ 164 million). This result was offset by a decrease in public sector deposits (US$ 11 million) and by the lower price of other securities (US$ 7 million).

As of February 6, the international position of the BCRP (US$ 11,670 million) has decreased US$ 7 million with respect to the close of January.

Exchange rate as of February 7: S/. 3.191 per dollar

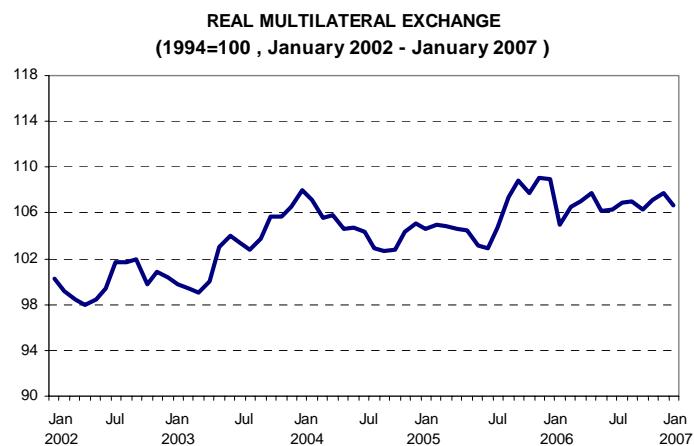

Between January 31 and February 7, the average ask price of the interbank exchange rate fell from S/. 3.198 to S/. 3.191 per dollar, as a result of which the nuevo sol appreciated 0.2 percent. During the first week of February, the Central Bank intervened in the exchange market only once (on February 7), buying US$ 5 million at the BCRP's front desk. It should be pointed out that the Central Bank had not carried out any exchange operations since January 23.

Real exchange rate decreased 0.9 percent

In real terms, the exchange rate decreased 0.9 percent in the month. This is explained by a nominal appreciation of the nuevo sol of 0.4 percent, an external inflation of -0.5 percent and a nil domestic inflation.

In annual terms, the real multilateral rate declined 2.0 percent in January as a result of the 5.9 percent appreciation of the nuevo sol in nominal terms. Moreover, external inflation posted 4.9 percent and domestic inflation posted 0.6 percent.

Inflation at 0.01 percent in January

Inflation in January posted 0.01 percent, accumulating 0.6 percent in the last twelve months. Three items contributed with 0.18 percentage points to this month's inflation: other vegetables (0.09 points), bread (0.05 points) and papaya (0.04 points). On the other hand, three items contributed to inflation this month with -0.24 percentage points: chicken meat (-0.16 points), domestic transport fares (-0.05 points) and onion (-0.03 points).

Survey on macroeconomic expectations: February 2007

The BCRP conducted its Monthly Survey on Macroeconomic Expectations among 27 financial entities, 21 economic analysts and 388 non-financial companies between January 12 and 31. The survey results are shown in the tables below.

The survey results indicate that expectations of inflation for 2007 are low and within the range established by the Central Bank (between 1.50 and 1.95 percent).

The survey results also reflect that the three groups have improved their expectations regarding the growth of GDP. This indicator would range between 6.5 and 7.0 percent in 2007.

On the other hand, the exchange rate is forecast to range between S/. 3.20 and S/. 3.25 per dollar in December this year.

Trade surplus of US$ 8,853 million in 2006

In December 2006, the trade balance posted a surplus of US$ 1,077 million, a sum US$ 153 million (17 percent) higher than that of December 2005, thus recording a positive result for 44 consecutive months. In annual terms, the surplus amounted to US$ 8,853 million, a sum 68 percent higher than the one posted in 2005.

ANNUAL TRADE BALANCE: DECEMBER 2003-DECEMBER 2006
(Thousand of millions of US$ accumulated in the last 12 months)

Exports in December totaled US$ 2,510 million. As a result of this figure, which represents an increase of US$ 535 million (27 percent) with respect to December last year, exports in 2006 amounted to US$ 23,750 million. Consequently, exports in 2006 grew 37 percent with respect to 2005.

Tradicional exports in December amounted to US$ 2,006 million, increasing by 28 percent (US$ 440 million) with respect to December 2005. This result is mainly explained by higher sales of zinc (US$ 246 million, or 249 percent), copper (US$ 161 million, or 32 percent), lead (US$ 84 million, or 111 percent), and crude oil (US$ 26 million, or 78 percent).

Non-traditional exports totaled US$ 495 million, a sum US$ 98 million (25 percent) higher than the one achieved in the same month last year. Except for wood and paper products and non-metal minerals, total exports in all other items increased, especially steel&metal products, fisheries and agricultural products.

Imports posted a total of US$ 1,433 million in December, increasing 36 percent relative to December 2005. This result is explained by higher purchases of consumer goods (22 percent), raw materials (29 percent) –mainly for industrial purposes (28 percent)– and capital goods (58 percent). Imports in 2006 totaled US$ 14,897 million, a sum 23 percent higher than the one recorded in 2005.

The terms of trade in December grew 23 percent with respect to 2005 due to the increase observed in the average prices of exports (33 percent) as a result of better international prices for the main commodities. On the other hand, the prices of imports increased by 9 percent. As a result of this, terms of trade have increased 26 percent.

TERMS OF TRADE (1994=100)

Monetary base as of January 31, 2007

The balance of the monetary base as of January 31 (S/. 12,927 million) decreased 6.8 percent (S/. 937 million) with respect to end-December 2006 due to seasonal factors associated with the festivities of the end of the year. In average terms, the annual growth rate of the monetary base in this period was 17.2 percent (16.3 percent in December).

By sources, the operations contributing to the contraction of the monetary base included net placements of BCRP Certificates of Deposit (S/. 2,671 million), higher public sector deposits

(S/. 435 million), and sales of dollars to the public sector (US$ 50 million, or S/. 159 million). Conversely, the monetary base increased due to purchases of foreign currency at the Central Bank's Front Office (US$ 610 million, or S/. 1,946 million) and to banks' lower overnight deposits (S/. 157 million).

Liquidity and credit to the private sector as of January 15

In the last four weeks, liquidity in domestic currency increased 2.5 percent (S/. 855 million), reaching a balance of S/. 34,829 million (annual growth of 18.4 percent). Credit to the private sector in domestic currency increased 0.4 percent (S/. 106 million), thus amounting to S/. 24,624 million (annual growth of 28.4 percent).

Liquidity in foreign currency decreased by 1.2 percent (US$ 156 million) and reached a balance of US$ 12,986 million (annual growth of 12.7 percent). Credit to the private sector in foreign currency decreased 3.7 percent (US$ 455 million), thus amounting to US$ 11,860 million (annual growth of 5.4).

International markets

Country risk at 129 basis points

Between November 30 and December 29, 2006, the country risk measured by the EMBI+ Peru spread fell slightly (from 131 to 129 basis points) following the trend of spreads in the region. This evolution takes place amidst expectations that the Federal Reserve will moderately reduce its interest rates in the second half of this year.

Oil quotation drops to US$ 57.7 per barrel as of February 7

In the same period, the price of WTI oil decreased 0.7 percent to US$ 57.7 per barrel due to an investors' profit take on January 7, to the higher inventories of gasoline in the US and to expectations of a lower cut in OPEC's daily production quota: the cut in February is expected to be lower than originally programmed (300 thousand b/d instead of 500 thousand b/d). Moreover, the US Department of Energy informed that the OPEC had reduced its daily production quota by 600 thousand b/d during the fourth quarter, that is, by half of the programmed reduction.

On the other hand, the decrease in the price of crude was offset by colder weather in the North East of the US, which increased the demand for heating oil, and by problems in Nigeria, the fifth largest oil producer in the world.

resumen informativo

Between January 31 and February 7, the quotation of gold increased 0.4 percent to US$ 656.1 per troy ounce due to the higher volatility of the dollar which encouraged investors to take positions in gold, to a higher demand of the jewelry industry in China due to the proximity of the Chinese new year, and to the larger purchases of this metal carried out by investment funds. However, the fall in the price of oil discouraged the demand for gold as a hedging asset, thus offsetting the initial rise in the gold price.

In the same period, the price of copper dropped 5.7 percent to US$ 2.42 per pound. This evolution is associated with the increase of global inventories in the stock exchange markets of Shanghai, New York and London –which reached their highest level in the last 32 months; with expectations of a lower global growth –in the US, the ISM manufacturing index contracted unexpectedly in January, reaching its lowest level since April 2003–; and with the resolution of the workers' strike in the Chilean mine of Cerro Colorado owned by BHP Billiton Plc.

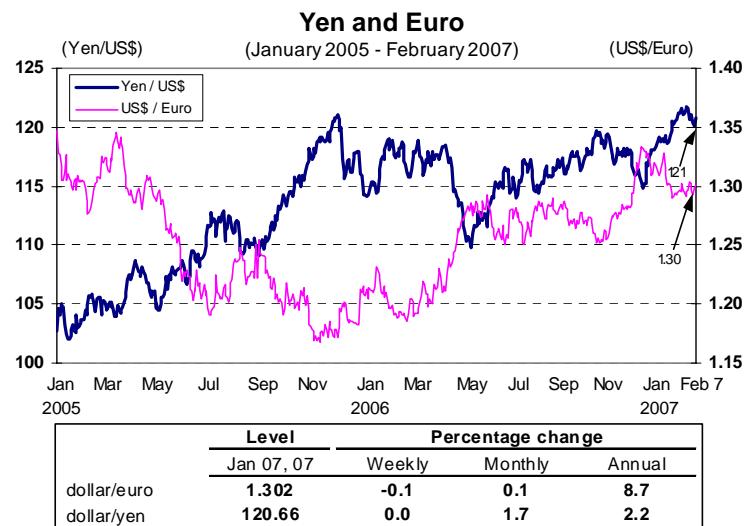

Between January 31 and February 7, the price of zinc decreased 8.9 percent to US$ 1.42 per pound, despite the fact that zinc inventories at the London Metal Exchange decreased 1.0 percent to 96,650 MT during this week. Investors were encouraged to sell more gold due to speculations that one of the main hedging funds had posted losses of 20 percent in January. In addition to this, the market was also affected by fears that the production of zinc might increase in China.

Dollar appreciates against the euro

In the period of analysis, the dollar appreciated 0.1 percent against the euro and recorded no change against the yen. The US currency strengthened as a result of positive indicators on the service sector and of lower expectations that the Federal Reserve will reduce its interest rate. As regards the euro, the appreciation of the dollar was constrained by mixed data on activity and by expectations that the European Central Bank (ECB) will increase its interest rate by 25 basis points in March, after the president of the ECB Jean Claude Trichet restated that "there should be a close watch on inflationary pressures".

On the other hand, in Asia, the yen continues to show volatility given the proximity of the G-7 meeting, and given the various declarations made for and against the depreciation of the yen by authorities of Japan, Europe, and the US.

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries decreased to 4.75 percent

Between January 31 and February 7, the 3-month Libor remained at 5.36 percent and the yield on the 10-year US Treasury bond decreased slightly from 4.81 to 4.75 percent due to negative data on employment and inflation that offset growth in the US and to expectations of increased demand for the quarterly auction of long-term US Treasury bonds.

Lima Stock Exchange grew 1.66 percent as of February 7

As of February 7, the General and Blue Chip indices of the Lima Stock Exchange (LSE) grew 1.66 and 1.71 percent respectively. The indices of the LSE were influenced by the positive performance of the stocks of companies in the construction, industrial, and mining sectors, despite the fall in the prices of copper and zinc in the international market.

During the week, the LSE exhibited a greater dynamism given the better prospects of agents as a result of the financial statements on the close of 2006, which are due by February 15.

So far this year, the LSE indices have increased 7.58 and 5.22 percent respectively.
