International reserves on April 24 amount to US$ 19,385 million

Net international reserves (NIRs) as of April 24 increased US$ 958 million relative to end March and amounted to US$ 19,385 million. This increase in the balance of NIRs was mainly due to BCRP exchange operations (US$ 1,003 million), to higher public sector deposits (US$ 177 million), to better prices for other securities (US$ 93 million), and to higher investment yield (US$ 20 million). This result was offset by sales of foreign currency to the Public Treasury for the repayment of the external debt (US$ 200 million), by lower deposits from the financial sector (US$ 114 million), and by lower deposits from the Deposit Insurance Bank (US$ 26 million).

As of April 24, the international position of the BCRP (US$ 13,305 million) has increased by US$ 902 million relative to end March.

Exchange rate: S/. 3.176 per dollar

Between April 18 and April 25, the average ask price of the interbank exchange rate fell from S/. 3.179 to S/. 3.176 per dollar, as a result of which the nuevo sol has so far appreciated 0.2 percent in this month. Between April 19 and 25, the Central Bank intervened in the exchange market purchasing US$ 335 million at the Central Bank's Foreign Exchange Desk.

By sources, operations contributing to the contraction of the monetary base included purchases of dollars at the Central Bank's Foreign Exchange Desk (US$ 840 million, or S/. 2,671 million), net maturities of BCRP Certificates of Deposits (S/. 169 million), and banks' lower overnight deposits (S/. 34 million). Conversely, the monetary base contracted due to higher public sector deposits (S/.2,253 million) and sales of dollars to the public sector (US$ 200 million, or S/. 636 million).

Liquidity and credit to the private sector as of March 31

In March, liquidity in domestic currency increased 3.4 percent (S/. 1,221 million), reaching a balance of S/. 36,723 million (annual growth of 26.3 percent). # resumen informativo

In March, the current revenues of the central government (S/. 4,639 million) increased 6 percent in real terms relative to March 2006, an evolution explained by a 9 percent increase of tax revenues (S/. 3,931 million) in real terms. This growth was partially offset by lower non-tax revenues, which fell 8 percent, given that a higher transfer from public enterprises (S/. 76 million) was observed in 2006. The increase of tax revenues resulted mainly from higher payments of income tax (28 percent) and of value-added tax -VAT- (11 percent).

In March non-financial expenditure (S/. 3,339 million) grew 3 percent in real terms relative to the same month last year. By group of expenditure, this increase is mainly explained by an increase of non-financial current expenditure (S/. 64 million) and capital expenditure (S/. 38 million). By line of expenditure, wages and salaries increased 5 percent and current transfers increased 3 percent in real terms, while goods and services decreased 3 percent.

Between April 2006 and March 2007, the operations of the central government accumulated a primary surplus of S/. 9,820 million (S/. 4,846 million between April 2005 and March 2006). This result is explained by higher current revenues which increased by S/. 9,880 million (20.7 percent in real terms), whereas non-financial expenditure increased by S/. 4,813 million (10.6 percent in real terms). Accumulated interest in this period grew 2.4 percent in real terms. As a result of this, the economic surplus amounted to S/. 4,389 million, a sum contrasting with the S/. 387 million deficit observed between April 2005 and March 2006.

International Markets

Country Risk at 111 basis points

From April 18 to March 21 to 25, the country risk indicator, measured by the EMBI+ Peru spread, decreased from 118 to 111 basis points, following the trend of spreads in the region. This evolution is associated with the high demand for sovereign bonds given high global liquidity, with the greater dynamism of the Peruvian economy, with lower pessimism about the growth of the global economy, and with expectations of moderate interest rate increases by the US Federal Reserve.

It should be pointed out that Peru's country risk indicator posted a new historical minimum record of 110 basis points on April 20.

Oil quotation increased to US$ 64.9 per barrel

Between April 18 and 25, the price of WTI oil increased 2.8 percent to US$ 64.9 per barrel. This evolution was due to a higher than expected fall in US inventories of gasoline, to increased fears of an interruption of Nigeria's supply of crude due to an upscale of violence in the country following the electoral process, and to China's lower growth of oil production relative to the rate growth expected by the government.

resumen informativo

From April 18 to 25, the quotation of gold decreased 0.4 percent to US$ 685.3 per troy ounce. This result was due to a profit-taking that took place in the period of analysis as a result of the high prices of gold observed over the past few weeks. However, this price decrease was partially offset by inflationary concerns generated by the rise in the oil quotation and by the higher demand of China in 2006 (which increased 29 percent). As a result of this, China has become the world's second largest buyer of gold, following India.

In the same period, the price of copper fell 2.9 percent to US$ 3.55 per pound. This evolution is associated with the end of the strike at Freeport-McMoRan's Grasberg mine in Indonesia –the strike had generated concerns that copper supplies would decline– and to reports of the International Copper Study Group (ICSG) indicating that copper production in the US had been nearly 40 thousand MT higher than consumption during the month of January.

However, this fall in the price of copper was partially offset by an inventory drop at the London Metal Exchange –inventories recorded their lowest levels ever since December 7, 2006– and by China's continuous robust demand –China's imports of copper have increased to 208 thousand MT, that is, 142 percent more than in 2006.

resumen informativo

Between April 18 and 25, the price of zinc rose 0.4 percent to US$ 1.68 per pound. This increase in the price of zinc was due to lower inventories at the London Metal Exchange (inventories declined by 5.0 percent to 97,875 MT), to fear that mining workers would go on strike in Peru, and to China's higher levels of demand (imports of concentrated zinc have increased three-fold relative to last year's levels of imports).

Dollar depreciated against the euro

In the same period of analysis, the dollar depreciated 0.2 percent against the euro and showed no variation against the yen. The dollar lost ground against the euro given unfavorable reports regarding the sale of new houses and the consumer confidence index. However, this was partially offset by positive results regarding the sale of existing houses and durable goods.

The euro remains strong due to signals indicating that interest rates will be raised to contain inflationary concerns, after the positive data of economic activity exhibited by the Eurozone.

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries remained unchanged at 4.65 percent

Between April 18 and 25, the 3-month Libor remained unchanged at 5.36 percent. The yield on the 10-year US Treasury bond also remained unchanged at 4.65 percent, due to mixed indicators on economic activity –new orders of durable goods increased 3.4 percent in March, while in April the consumer confidence index fell to its lowest level since August 2006 (from 108.2 to 104.0)– and on the real estate market –with negative data on the sale of new houses and positive data on the sale of existing houses.

Lima Stock Exchange grew 20.7 percent as of April 25

As of April 25, the General and Blue Chip indices of the Lima Stock Exchange (LSE) grew 20.7 and 23.3 percent respectively, driven by expectations associated with corporate results in the first quarter of 2007. This growth was fueled by the advance of mining stocks (after the rise in the international prices of metals, especially zinc), industrial stocks (given the country's good economic context), and agriculture stocks (given better prospects in this sector). Moreover, on April 25 the LSE closed operations showing slight losses due to investors' profit-taking in leading stocks of the sectors of mining and massive consumption products.

So far this year, the General and Blue Chip indices of the Lima Stock Exchange have grown 60.7 and 59.8 percent respectively.
