Exchange rate: US dollar traded at S/. 2.912

Between October 27 and November 3, the average interbank ask price of the dollar increased from S/. 2.899 to S/. 2.912. This increase represents a depreciation of the nuevo sol of 0.5 percent. The BCRP did not intervene in the exchange market in this period.

EXCHANGE RATE AND NET DOLLAR PURCHASE

Between October 27 and November 3, banks' balance of net forward purchases of foreign currency increased by US$ 107 million.

Compared with end October, the balance of net forward purchases has accumulated an increase of US$ 132 million.

BALANCE OF NET FORWARD PURCHASES OF FOREING CURRENCY
(January 2008 - October 2009)Real exchange rate stable in October

The real multilateral exchange rate decreased 0.2 percent relative to the previous month, but increased 0.6 percent relative to December 2008.

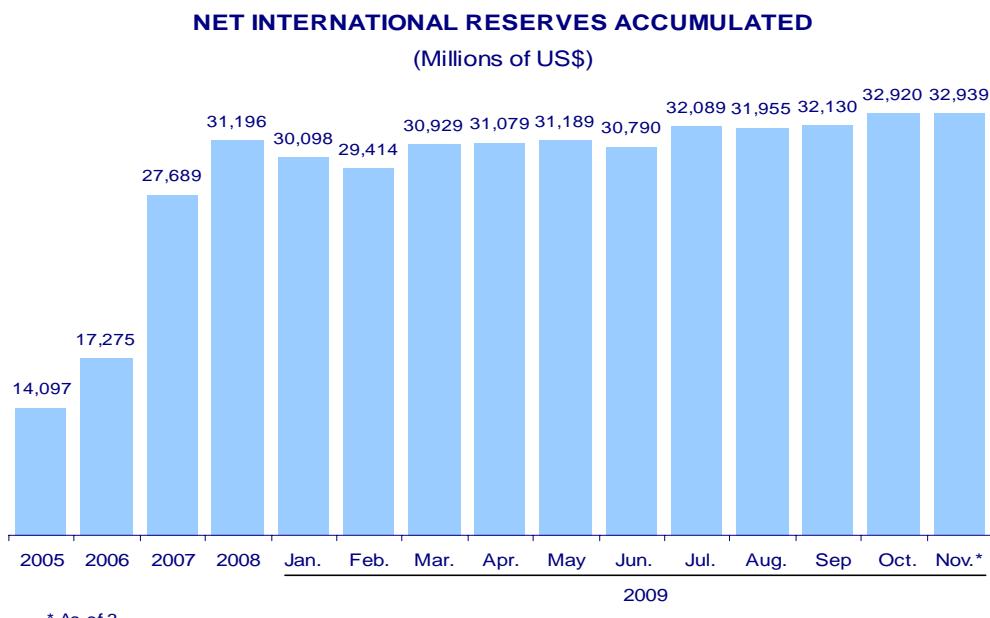

This result is explained by a nominal appreciation of the New Sol of 0.3 percent (with respect to the currency basket of Peru's main trading partners), by an external inflation of 0.2 percent, and a domestic inflation of 0.1 percent.

International reserves amounted to US$ 32,939 million on November 3

Net international reserves (NIRs) increased to US$ 32,939 million on November 3. This increase (NIRs are US$ 19 million higher than at end October) is mainly explained by banks' higher deposits (US$ 43 million) and by the higher valuation of investments (US$ 26 million). This result was offset by lower public sector deposits (down US$ 50 million). In October, NIR increased by US $ 790 million from the previous month, mainly explained by exchange interventions of the central bank.

The international investment position of the BCRP on November 3 was US$ 23,007 million, a sum US$ 26 million higher than at end September.

Inflation in October: 0.12 percent

Inflation recorded a rate of 0.12 percent in October and thus accumulated a rate of 0.71 percent in the last twelve months. Three items contributed with 0.47 percentage points to this month's inflation rate: chicken meat (0.34 percentage points), sugar (0.07 points), and fish (0.06 points). On the other hand, three items contributed with -0.22 percentage points to inflation in October: onion (-0.10 percentage points), other vegetables, and eggs (each of which contributed with -0.06 percentage points).

Continuing with the falling trend observed in the last months, core inflation showed a rate of -0.02 percent in October and thus accumulated a rate of 3.1 percent in the last twelve months. On the other hand, non-core inflation recorded a rate of 0.3 percent in the month and a rate of -2.5 percent in the last twelve months.

Survey on macroeconomic expectations

The results of the Survey on Macroeconomic Expectations carried out by the BCRP in October show that economic agents have continued revising their inflation expectations downwards. Thus, financial entities and economic analysts now expect a rate of inflation of 0.8 percent, while non-financial firms now expect a rate of 2.0 percent (versus inflation rates of 1.0 and 2.2 percent estimated in September).

Inflation in 2010 and 2011 is expected to be within the monetary inflation target range.

Trade balance recorded a surplus of US$ 566 million in September

In September, the trade balance showed a surplus of US$ 566 million. Exports in September, which amounted to US$ 2,408 million, increased 3.9 percent compared with the previous month. This result, which is mainly explained by higher average prices (up 4.5 percent), was offset by lower volumes of exports (down 0.6 percent).

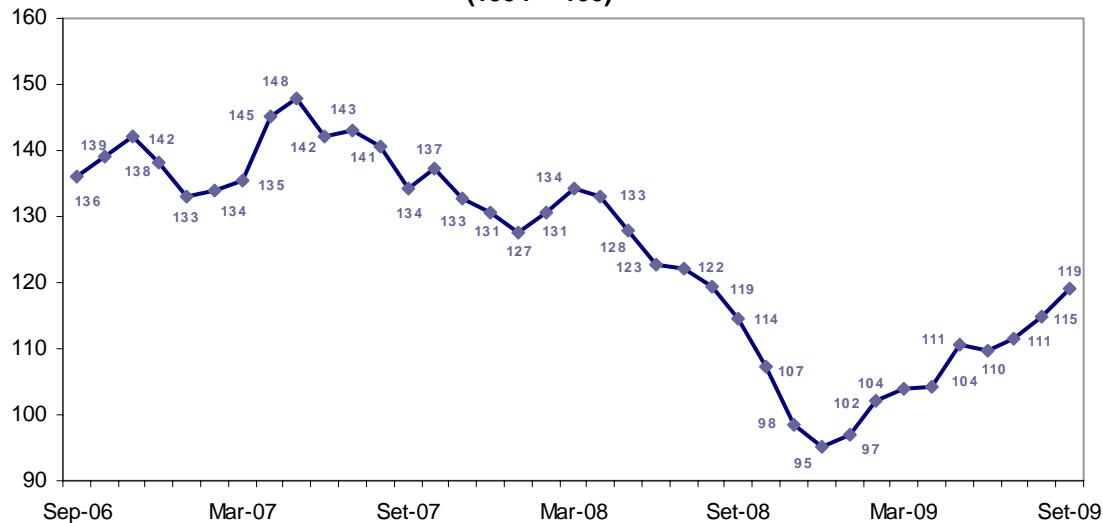

On the other hand, imports, which amounted to US$ 1,842 million, were 6.1 percent higher than in August. Imports of consumption goods amounted to US$ 368 million, while imports of inputs amounted to US$ 942 million and imports of capital goods amounted to US$ 522 million.

International Markets

Country risk at 127 basis points

On November 3, the EMBIG Peru spread recorded 209 basis points.

In October, the average country risk indicator, measured by the EMBIG Peru, fell from 225 basis points in September to 197 basis points, showing a similar evolution to the one observed in the region (the EMBIG Latin America fell 21 basis points in this period).

This drop of the emerging debt spread is explained by lower risk aversion after reports showed positive indicators of economic activity in the U.S.

Price of gold reached record level of US$ 1,077.5 per troy ounce

On November 3, the price of gold reached a maximum historical level of US$ 1,077.5/troy ounce.

In October, the average price of gold rose 4.9 percent, from US$ 995.5 in September to US$ 1,044.1 per troy ounce.

This increase in the price of gold was associated with the depreciation of the US dollar, greater speculative positions, and the use of gold as a hedge against inflationary pressures.

On November 3, the price of copper rose to US$ 2.90/pound.

In October, the average price of copper rose from to US$ 2.81 to US$ 2.85/pound (1.6 percent).

Factors influencing this rise included China's re-initiating imports of copper, as well as supply problems. This was reflected in the decline of inventories at the London and Shanghai Metal Exchange markets.

resumen informativo

On November 3, the price of zinc rose to US$ 0.97/pound.

In October, the average price of zinc rose from US$ 0.85 in September to US$ 0.94 a pound (10.2 percent).

This higher price of zinc is sustained by China's increased demand, supply problems, and by expectations generated by favorable indicators of economic activity in Asia and Europe.

On November 3, the price of WTI oil rose to US$ 79.6 a barrel.

In October, the average price of WTI oil posted an increase of 9.1 percent (this price rose from US$ 69.5 in September to US$ 75.8 per barrel).

Factors accounting for this increase include the recovery of China's demand (increased imports), the lower level of crude inventories in the U.S., and forecasts of a very harsh winter in the Northern Hemisphere.

Dollar depreciated against the euro

In October, the US dollar depreciated 1.7 percent against the euro and 1.2 percent against the yen.

This evolution of the US currency reflected lower risk aversion, which brought about a decline in the demand for the US dollar as a hedge. During October, the US showed its lowest level against the euro in 14 months.

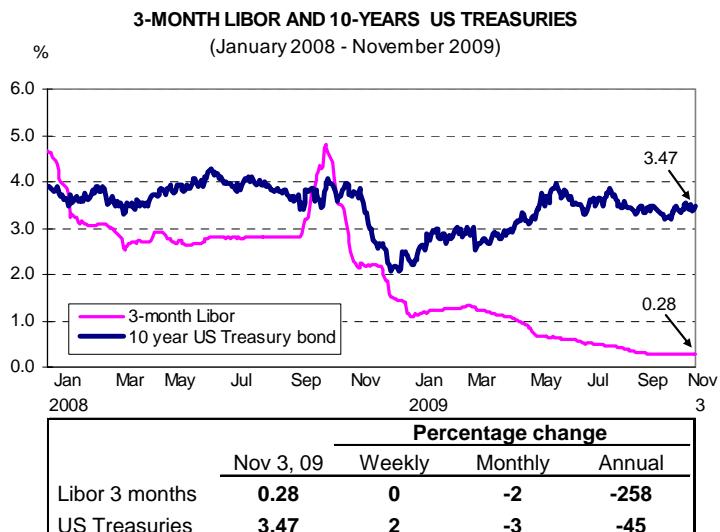

On November 3, the exchange rate was 1.47 US dollars per euro and 90.3 yens per US dollar.

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries declined to 3.37 percent in October

On average terms, the 3-month Libor fell from 0.30 percent in September to 0.28 percent, while the yield on the 10-year Treasury bond declined from 3.39 percent in September to 3.37 percent in October.

The yield on the Treasuries declined despite the massive issuance of debt bonds observed during the last weeks of October.

On November 3, the 3-month Libor showed a rate of 0.28 percent, while the yield on the 10-year Treasury bond showed a rate of 3.47 percent.

Lima Stock Exchange grew 0.7 percent

The General and Blue Chip indices of the Lima Stock Exchange (LSE) at November 3 have grown 0.7 percent and 1.4 percent, respectively.

In October, the General and Blue Chip indices fell 6.2 and 8.0 percent, respectively.

This fall of the LSE indices was led by the decline of mining and industrial shares, due to investors' take-profit. The evolution of the LSE was in line with the decline of Wall Street.

So far this year, the indices of the LSE have accumulated gains for 103.1 and 95.5 percent, respectively.
