This increase of NIRs in June compared to the level of NIRs at the close of May, which resulted mainly from banks' higher deposits (US$ 691 million) and the higher valuation of investments (US$ 17 million), was in part offset by public sector's lower deposits (US$ 34 million).

The foreign exchange position of the BCRP on June 15 was US$ 25,306 million, a sum US$ 2,318 million higher than the one recorded at end 2009 and US$ 20 million higher than the one recorded at the close of May.

GDP grew 9.3 percent in April

GDP recorded a growth rate of 9.3 percent in April. This growth was mainly led by the dynamism of non primary sectors, which grew 11.3 percent, especially as a result of the growth of non primary manufacturing, construction, and commerce. With this result, GDP accumulates an expansion of 6.9 percent in the first four months of the year.

The agricultural sector grew 6.7 percent in April, reflecting the expansion of the sub-sectors of agriculture and livestock, which grew 8.0 and 4.1 percent, respectively. The higher production of potatoes and olives was noteworthy this month. It is worth highlighting that with this growth rate, which is the highest rate observed since April 2009, the agriculture sector accumulates a growth rate of 4.7 percent in the first four months of this year.

resumen informativo

The fishing sector registered a drop of 32.3 percent, which mainly reflected the delay in the start of the fishing season of anchovy for industrial consumption.

Production in the mining and hydrocarbon sector dropped 4.7 percent due to lower activity in the branch of metallic mining (-7.4 percent) –especially gold–, where production fell 20.6 percent. This drop was offset by the higher production obtained in the area of hydrocarbons (16.8 percent).

Recording five straight months of expansion and the highest growth rate in the last 16 years, non-primary manufacturing grew 21.0 percent in April. Moreover, 33 of the 38 branches of non-primary manufacturing –the highest number in the last two years– showed positive growth rates. Growth was particularly noteworthy in the branches oriented to the production of capital goods and mass consumer goods, which grew 30.7 and 25.3 percent respectively compared to the same month last year. Within these branches, it is worth pointing out the dynamism of the groups of metal products, electrical machinery, and textiles which together account for over 50 percent of the growth of manufacturing activity this month.

Construction grew 21.1 percent and accumulated an expansion of 17.9 percent in the first four months of the year. This evolution reflects the higher execution of construction projects, including housing projects, malls, and private and public infrastructure projects.

Indicators

Preliminary data available to date of indicators on the sectors of fishing, mining and hydrocarbons, construction, electricity and water, relevant for economic activity include the following:

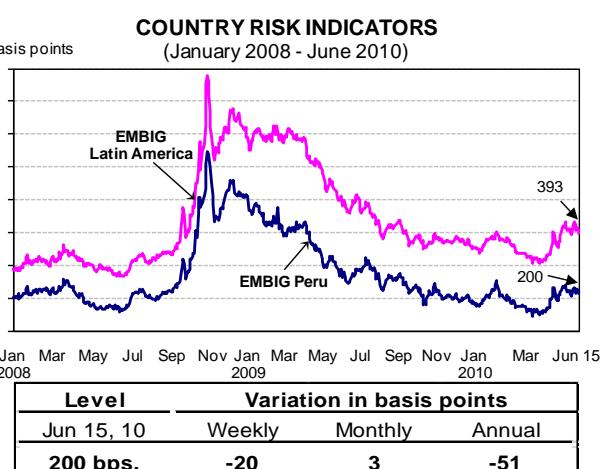

- According to IMARPE, a total of 1,102 thousand tons of anchovy was caught in May. This volume is 40 percent lower than the one recorded in May 2009.
- The production of hydrocarbons in May grew 16.3 percent, according to the Ministry of Energy and Mining.
- According to ASOCEM, local dispatches of cement increased from 533 to 643 thousand tons between May 2009 and May 2010 (up 20.5 percent).
- The production of electricity increased 8.0 percent in May, according to the Comité de Operación Económica del Sistema Interconectado Nacional (COES). It should be pointed out that this indicator shows an increase of 13.1 percent in the first 15 days of June.

International Markets

Country risk declined to 200 basis points

Between June 8 and 15, the country risk indicator, measured by the EMBIG Peru spread, declined from 220 to 200 basis points, showing a similar evolution to the one recorded by the region spread which fell 34 basis points.

In the week of analysis, the spreads of the debt of Latin American countries declined in a context of lower risk aversion explained by the declarations made by the EU and the ECB, which contributed to calm market fears.

resumen informativo

Price of gold fell to US$ 1,226.1/troy ounce

In the same period, the price of gold fell 1.7 percent to US$ 1,226.1 per troy ounce.

Price of gold showed high volatility: after reaching a record price of US$ 1,247/troy ounce on June 8, gold recorded a downward correction in a context of relative lower risk aversion.

Between June 8 and 15, the price of copper increased 8.8 percent to US$ 3.01 a pound.

This price increase was influenced by favorable indicators of economic activity in China (industrial production, manufacturing, investment) and Europe (industrial production) and by the drop of inventories in metal exchange markets. Inventories dropped again 3 percent during the week, reaching a level of 697 thousand tons (equivalent to 2 weeks of consumption).

Between June 8 and 15, the price of zinc increased 9.2 percent to US$ 0.80 a pound.

Recovery of this basic metal: the recovery of the price of zinc was mainly associated with the decline of inventories in metal exchange markets, as well as with reports indicating an increase of China's exports, which would allow anticipating an increase in the demand for industrial metals.

resumen informativo

In the same period, the price of WTI oil recorded an increase of 6.9 percent reaching US$ 76.9 per barrel.

This rise was in line with the lower availability of inventories in USA (the US Energy Department has reported a 1 percent drop of inventories for the second consecutive week). Other factors that would have also contributed to this rise included expectations of an increased demand in USA and China's higher imports of crude.

Dollar depreciated against the euro

Between June 8 and 15, the dollar depreciated 2.9 percent against the euro.

The European currency reversed the downward trend observed in the previous week against the dollar and appreciated as a result of agents' lower risk aversion.

The dollar showed no variation against the yen in the week of analysis.

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries increased to 3.30 percent

Between June 8 and 15, the 3-month Libor remained at 0.54 percent, while the yield on the 10-year Treasury bond increased from 3.19 to 3.30 percent.

The yields on the US Treasury bonds increased due to investors' recovered appetite for risk, which slowed down the search for assets considered to be safe.

Year-to-date, the General Index has recorded a gain of 1.8 percent, while the Selective Index has accumulated a decline of 4.1 percent.
