On February 15, net international reserves (NIRs) amounted to US$ 45,297 million. This level of reserves is higher by US$ 787 million than the one recorded at the close of January.

The increase of NIRs so far this month resulted mainly from banks' higher deposits (US$ 512 million) and from BCRP purchases of foreign currency (US$ 497 million). This was partially offset by the lower valuation of investments (US$ 153 million), by swap operations in dollars (US$ 62 million), and by lower public sector deposits (US$ 4 million).

The exchange rate position of the BCRP on February 15 was US$ 33,095 million, an amount higher by US$ 283 million than the one registered at the close of January.

growth in the month, and offset the lower production of sugar cane and hard maize. In the year, the sector accumulated an expansion of 4.3 percent, with the agriculture sub-sector recording a growth rate of 4.2 percent and the livestock sub-sector a growth rate of 4.4 percent.

In part associated with the temporary suspension of the catch of anchovy for industrial consumption, the fishing sector recorded a decline of 21.6 percent in December. As a result of this, the sector closed the year with a drop of 16.6 percent.

The mining and hydrocarbon sector grew 1.3 percent in December. This recovery of the sector compared with the previous months was associated with the expansion observed in the extraction of natural gas for export, which offset the fall recorded in the production of gold and zinc. However, in annual terms the sector recorded a contraction of 0.8 percent. This was offset by a higher production of natural gas which more than duplicated the amount of gas produced in the previous year.

Non primary manufacturing registered an expansion of 14.0 percent in December and thus accumulated a growth rate of 16.9 percent in the year –the highest rate observed in the past 10 years–, driven mainly by higher domestic demand.

The construction sector showed an increase of 12.5 percent and thus closed the year recording a growth rate of 17.4 percent (a rate not observed since 1995). This result reflects the dynamism shown by construction in terms of real estate, commerce, hotel, and public and private infrastructure projects.

Indicators – January 2011

Preliminary data available to date of indicators on the sectors of fishing, mining and hydrocarbons, construction, electricity and water, relevant for economic activity include the following:

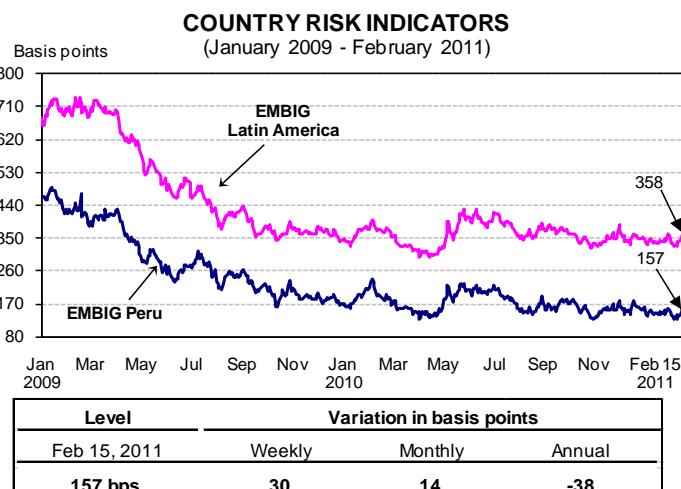

- According to IMARPE, 409 thousand tons of anchovy were caught in January. This volume of anchovy catch is 86 percent higher than the one recorded in January 2010.
- The production of hydrocarbons grew 42 percent, according to Perupetro.
- According to ASOCEM, local dispatches of cement increased from 609.4 to 643.3 thousand tons between January 2010 and January 2011.
- The production of electricity grew 9.1 percent in January according to the Comité de Operación Económica del Sistema Interconectado Nacional (COES). It is worth pointing out that this indicator also shows an increase of 10.7 percent in the first 15 days of February 2011.

International Markets

Country risk at 157 basis points

Between February 8 and 15, the country risk indicator, measured by the EMBIG Peru spread, increased from 127 to 157 basis points.

The spread of the Latin American debt also rose by 29 basis points in a context of higher risk aversion in emerging markets.

Price of gold rose to US$ 1,373.8 per troy ounce

In the same period, the price of gold rose 0.5 percent to US$ 1,373.8 a troy ounce.

The price of gold rose amid increased expectations of inflation in some regions, which influenced a higher demand for this precious metal as a hedge asset.

Between February 8 and 15, the price of copper rose 1.8 percent to US$ 4.58 a pound.

This rise in the price of copper was associated with reports indicating China's higher imports of metals and with the drop of inventories in the major metal exchange markets.

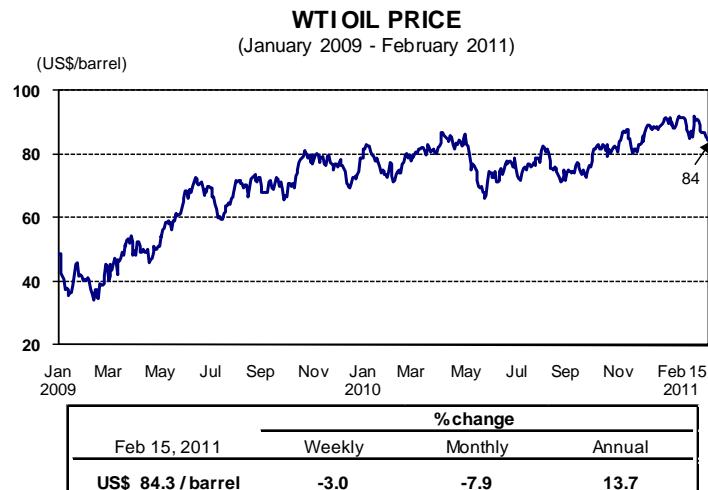

In the period of analysis, the price of zinc increased 1.3 percent to US$ 1.13 per pound.

The price of zinc increased as a result of data of China's higher demand for imports and lower inventories of this metal at the London Metal Exchange.

Between February 8 and 15 the price of WTI oil recorded a drop of 3.0 percent and posted US$ 84.3 per barrel.

This drop in the price of WTI oil was mainly explained by the increase of inventories of crude in the United States and by the decline of investors' non commercial positions.

US Dollar appreciated against the euro and the yen

In the same period, the dollar appreciated 1.0 percent against the euro.

The appreciation of the dollar against the euro is explained by increased risk aversion early in the week and by unfavorable data of economic activity in the Eurozone.

Moreover, the dollar appreciated 1.7 percent against the yen.

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries declined to 3.61 percent

Between February 8 and 15, the 3-month Libor remained at 0.31 percent, while the yield on the 10-year US Treasury bonds declined from 3.74 percent to 3.61 percent.

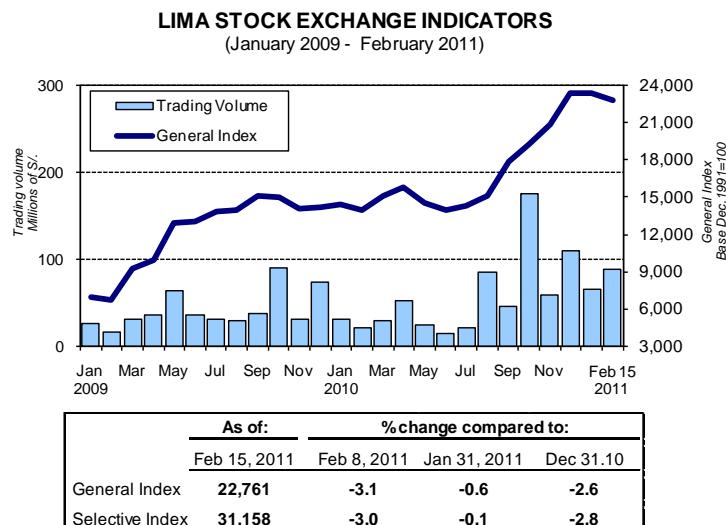

This decline in the yield on the US Treasury bond was mainly associated with the higher demand for T-bonds resulting from the Federal Reserve's bond purchase program.

Lima Stock Exchange

So far this month (at February 15), the General Index and the Selective Index of the Lima Stock Exchange (LSE) have fallen 0.6 and 0.1 percent, respectively.

During the week of analysis (February 8 to 15), both indices fell 3.1 and 3.0 percent, respectively, influenced by lower-than-expected corporate results.

Year-to-date, the General Index and the Selective Index of the Lima Stock Exchange have accumulated losses of 2.6 percent and 2.8 percent, respectively.
