resumen informativo

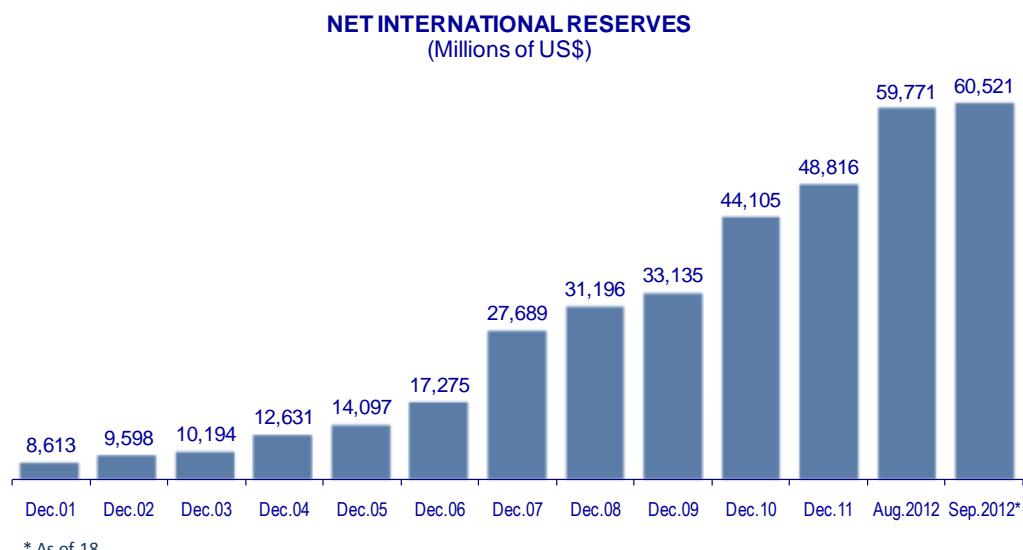

Exchange rate: S/. 2.603 per dollar

Between September 11 and 18, the average selling price of the dollar in the interbank market fell from S/. 2.607 to S/. 2.603 per dollar, which represented an appreciation of the nuevo sol of 0.18 percent. In this period, the Central Bank intervened in the foreign exchange market buying foreign currency for a total of US$ 320 million.

Net international reserves at US$ 60.52 billion

Net international reserves (NIRs) at September 18, 2012 amounted to US$ 60.52 billion. This amount of reserves is higher by US$ 750 million than the one recorded at the close of August, 2012.

resumen informativo

The increase registered in NIRs so far this month was explained mainly by the Central Bank's net purchases of foreign currency (US$ 720 million) and by the higher valuation of investments (US$ 453 million). This increase was offset by the decline of banks' deposits (US$ 349 million) and by the lower deposits of the public sector (US$ 49 million).

The foreign exchange position of the BCRP at September 18 was US$ 42.66 billion. This amount is US$ 1.17 billion higher than the one recorded at the close of August 2012.

GDP grew 7.2 percent in July

GDP recorded a growth rate of 7.2 percent in July and accumulated an expansion of 6.3 percent in the first seven months of the year. As observed at the beginning of 212, continued to the higher dynamism of construction, commerce, and services. Also, it is worth pointing out the mining sector growth which offset the lower production of fishing and agriculture sector.

In July, the agriculture and livestock sector grew slightly 0.2 percent amid an increase in livestock subsector (9.7 percent) and the low volume of rice and coffee produced.

resumen informativo

The livestock sub sector grew 6.5 percent due mainly to the high volume of poultry meat production (12.3 percent). It should be pointed out that this product alone accounted for 20 percent of the gross value of farming production so far 2012. On the other side, the decline in the agricultural sector (3.8 percent) was associated mainly to base effect in the rice production (down, 19.2 percent) as a result of the normalization with respect to the crop year, as well as coffee that after two years of high yields now shows a lower production.

The fishing activity recorded a contraction of 3.1 percent reflecting the reduced catch of giant squid for frozen products and anchovy for canned products, which were used for the production of fishmeal, which presented progressive increases in quotation during this year.

The production of the mining and hydrocarbon sector grew 4.2 percent. This increase results from the greater production of copper associated with the expansion of Antamina and the higher metal content obtained by Southern in its unit of Cuajone, from the greater production of zinc derived from the investment made by Milpo in its Ica unit of Cerro Lindo in 2011 and the greater production of natural gas at lots 88 and 56.

The manufacturing sector grew 4.8 percent in the month. This rate reflects an increased production in non-primary manufacturing (up 5.8 percent) as a result of greater activity in the branches of explosives, natural and chemical essences, cement, transport material, metallic products and electrical machinery. On the other hand, manufacturing based on raw materials contracted 0.8 percent due to the lower production of canned and frozen fish products and to the lower refining of oil, even though this was in part offset by a higher production of fishmeal and fish oil and meat products.

The construction sector grew 21.5 percent in July and accumulated an expansion of 15.7 percent in the first seven months of 2012. The growth in this sector reflects the continued construction activity observed in housing projects both in Lima and in other cities in the country, as well as the onset of important public infrastructure projects, such as Vía Parque Rímac and section 2 of Line 1 of Lima's Metro.

Indicators – August 2012

Preliminary data available to date of indicators on the sectors of fishing, mining and hydrocarbons, construction, electricity and water, include the following:

- According to IMARPE, 26.6 thousand tons of anchovy has been captured in the Northern-center region as part of the 2,500 thousand tons quota for the second fishing season in this region.
- The production of hydrocarbons rose 2.7 percent, according to Perupetro.
- According to ASOCEM, local dispatches of cement increased from 738 to 876 thousand tons between august 2011 and August 2012.
- The production of electricity grew 6.3 percent in August according to the Comité de Operación Económica del Sistema Interconectado Nacional (COES).

International Markets

Country risk declined at 115 basis points

In September 11-18, the country risk indicator, measured by the EMBIG Peru spread, fell from 128 to 115 basis points.

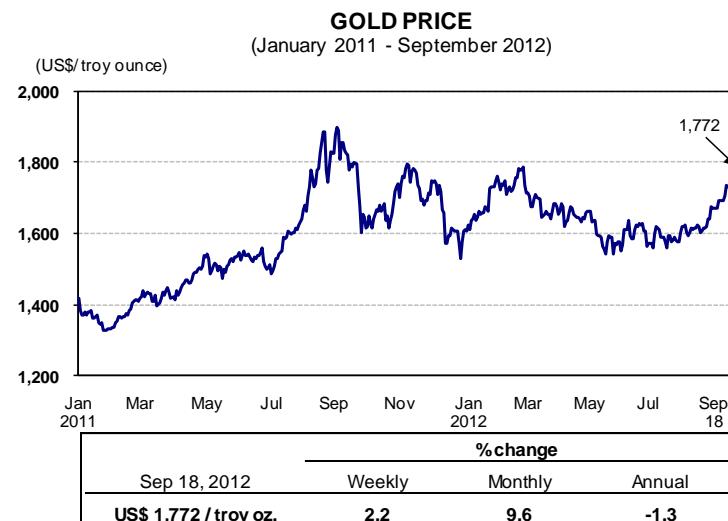

Likewise, the EMBIG Latin America spread fell 33 basis points as a result of optimism in the markets due to the announcement of new monetary stimulus from the Federal Reserve (QE3) and decision of the German Constitutional Court in favor of the bailout fund of the Eurozone.

Price of gold rose to US$ 1,772.0 per troy ounce

In the same period, the price of gold rose 2.2 percent to US$ 1,772.0 per troy ounce.

The rise in the price of gold was supported by the weakening of the dollar against the euro following the Federal Reserve's decision and by higher demand for the precious metal as a haven asset, amid concerns of increased inflation in some countries.

Between September 11 and 18, the price of copper increased 1.8 percent to US$ 3.73 per pound.

The upward trend registered in the price of copper was influenced by stimulus measures by Federal Reserve in the United States, which would boost demand for industrial metals, and by the reduction of inventories in the major stock exchange markets.

resumen informativo

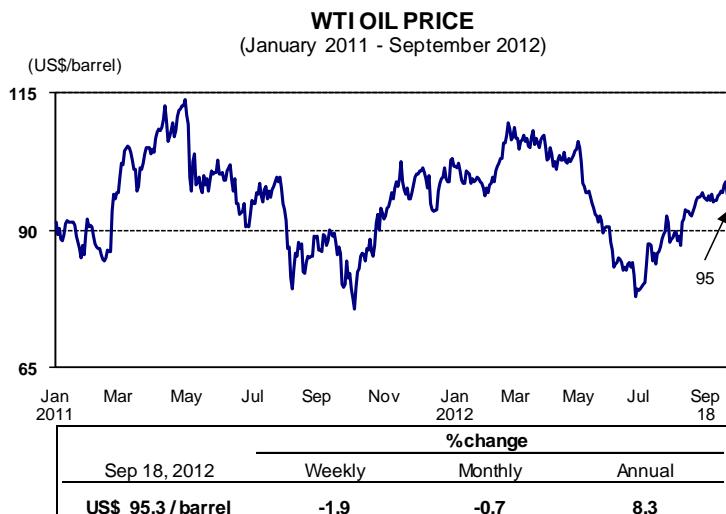

Between September 11 and 18, the price of zinc rose 3.7 percent to US$ 0.93/pound.

The rise of price of zinc was associated with the decline of inventories in the London Metal Exchange and by infrastructure stimulus measures in China.

Between September 11 and 18, the price of WTI oil declined 1.9 percent to US$ 95.3 per barrel.

This fall in the price of crude is explained by unexpected increase in crude oil and gasoline inventories in the United States and by reports of increased crude oil production by Saudi Arabia.

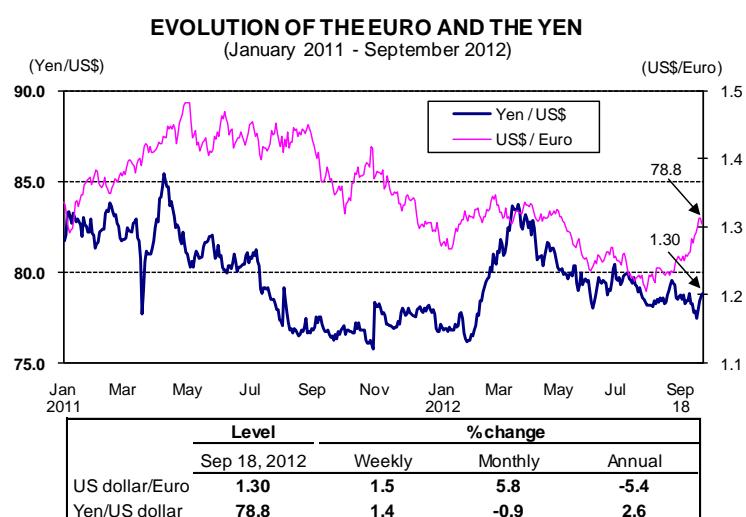

US dollar depreciated against the euro

In September 11-18, the dollar depreciated 1.5 percent against the euro.

This depreciation of the dollar against the euro was due to the implementation of a new monetary stimulus by the Federal Reserve (QE3) and weak activity data and labor market in the US.

The dollar appreciated 1.4 percent against the yen.

resumen informativo

Yield on 10-year US Treasuries reached 1.81 percent

Between September 11 and 18, the 3-month Libor declined 2 basis point to 0.38 percent, while the yield on the 10-year US Treasury bonds rose 11 basis points to 1.81 percent.

The yield on the US Treasuries rose during the week due to the announcement of new monetary stimulus from the Federal Reserve (QE3), in a context of relatively lower global risk aversion.

Accumulated profitability at the Lima Stock Exchange: 11.0 percent

So far this month (at September 18), the General Index and the Selective Index of the LSE have grown 6.4 and 7.3 percent, respectively.

During the week of analysis (September 11-18), these indices rose 4.3 and 4.9 percent, respectively. The positive performance of the LSE indices were associated with increased optimism in international markets by announcement of new monetary stimulus from the Fed (QE3) and with the favorable evolution of the prices of commodities.

Year-to-date, the indices of the LSE accumulate gains of 11.0 and 15.8 percent, respectively
