WEEKLY REPORT

Corporate prime rate in dollars at 1.21 percent

On November 19, the corporate prime rate –the interest rate commercial banks charge to lower risk businesses– in US dollars showed a daily average rate of 1.21 percent. On the other hand, the corporate prime rate in soles recorded a daily average rate of 4.36 percent.

The corporate prime rate in soles is the closest in level to the rate of the Central Bank's reference interest rate and tends to be the first to respond to the movements of and expectations about the monetary policy rate.

Monetary and exchange operations

Year-to-date (at November 19), the Central Bank has accumulated purchases of FC for a total of US$ 5.21 billion and sales of FC for a total US$ 3.84 billion, thus accumulating purchases of foreign currency for a net total of US$ 1.37 billion. The Central Bank has also sold FC for a total of US$ 3.85 billion to the public sector. The BCRP net internal assets have increased by S/.9.08 billion.

 Preliminary data.

Currency in circulation at November 19 showed a balance of S/. 32.25 billion and recorded a growth rate of 12.1 percent in the last 12 months.

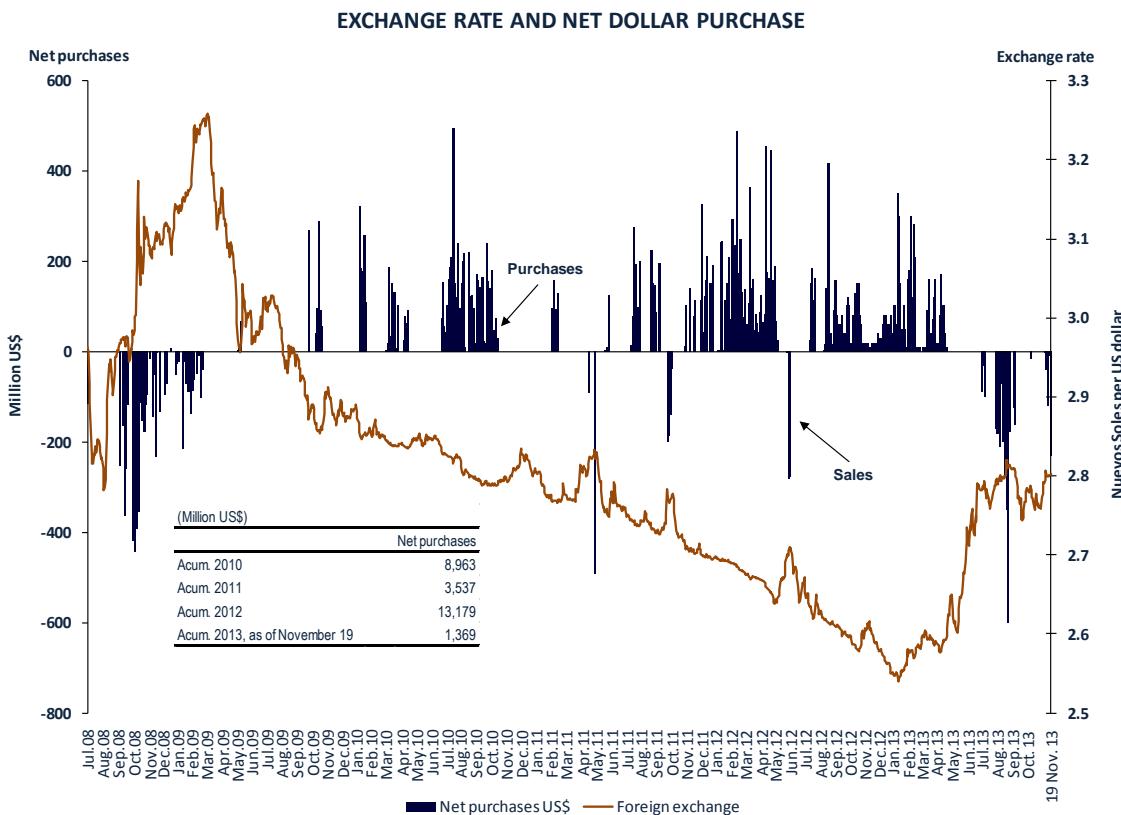

CURRENCY
(Annual percentage change)

Exchange rate: S/. 2.80 per US dollar

On November 19, the average selling price of the dollar in the interbank market was S/. 2.80 per dollar.

Between 2012 and 2013, the Central Bank purchased foreign currency for a total of US$ 19.07 billion and sold foreign currency for a total of US$ 4.52 billion. In net terms, purchases of foreign currency are higher than sales by US$ 15.55 billion.

International reserves amount to US$ 66.74 billion

International reserves at November 19, 2013, totaled US$ 66.74 billion. This amount of reserves is US$ 2.75 billion higher than the amount of reserves recorded at end-2012.

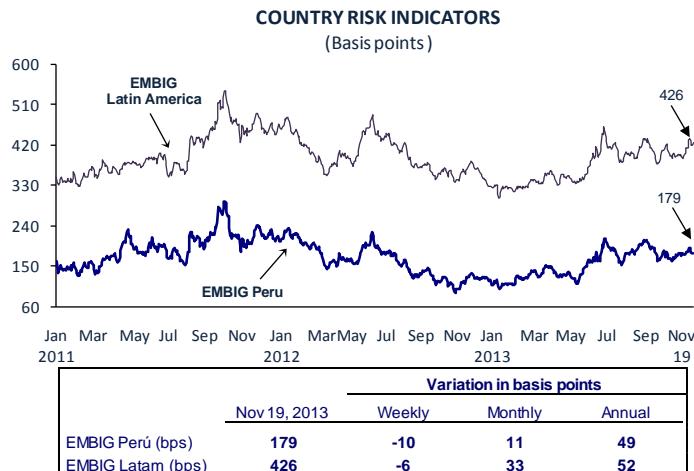

International Markets

Country risk at 179 basis points

In November 12-19, the country risk indicator, measured by the EMBIG Peru spread, fell from 189 to 179 basis points.

The EMBIG Latin America spread fell 6 basis points due to expectations that the Federal Reserve will delay the tapering of monetary stimulus and due to the announcement of reforms in China.

Price of gold at US$ 1,275.8 per troy ounce

In the same period, the price of gold dropped 0.4 percent to US$ 1,275.8 per troy ounce.

The decline in the price of gold was associated with a report of the World Gold Council that said that the global demand for gold had dropped in Q3-2013. However, the decline in the price of gold was in part offset by the depreciation of the dollar and by China's strong physical demand for gold given the proximity of the New Year.

In November 12-19, the price of copper dropped 2.5 percent to US$ 3.15 per pound.

The price of copper fell due to expectations of a lower demand from China following signals that investment in this country's energy sector had slowed down, as well as due to expectations of a higher supply after the presentation of the Rio Tinto copper project in Arizona, which would become the first copper producer in North America.

resumen informativo

In the same period, the price of zinc rose 0.2 percent to US$ 0.84 per pound.

The rise in the price of this basic metal was associated with a report of the International Zinc and Lead Study Group that said that the global demand for zinc had been higher than the supply in September.

The price of WTI crude oil increased 0.3 percent to US$ 93.3 per barrel between November 12 and 19.

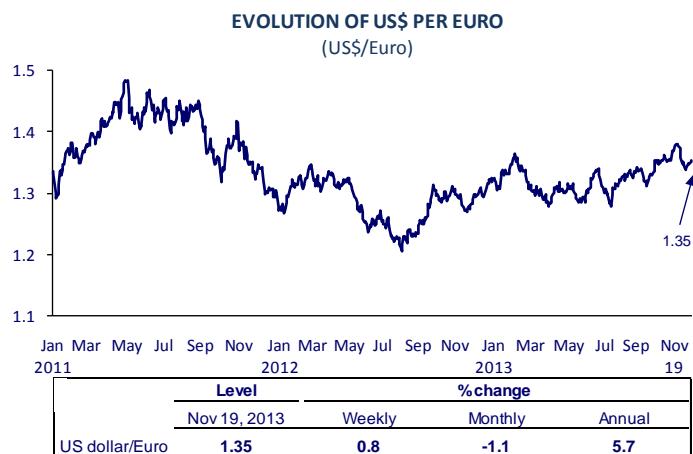

The rise in the price of crude is associated with interruptions in Libya's supply of oil and with a seasonal increase in demand in winter. However, this price rise was offset after it was reported that U.S. crude and gasoline inventories had increased last week.

Dollar depreciated against the euro

In November 12-19, the dollar depreciated 0.8 percent against the euro.

The euro strengthened against the dollar as a result of a rise in German investors' confidence as well as of expectations that the Federal Reserve will delay the withdrawal of quantitative easing (QE).

resumen informativo

Yield on 10-year U.S. Treasuries fell to 2.71 percent

In the week of November 12 to November 19, the 3-month Libor remained at 0.24 percent.

In this period, the yield on the 10-year US Treasuries fell from 2.77 to 2.71 percent as a result of hopes that the Fed tapering of QE will be postponed until 2014 after Yellen statements.

Lima Stock Exchange

So far this month (at November 19), the General Index and the Selective Index of the Lima Stock Exchange (LSE) have fallen 6.2 and 5.9 percent, respectively.

During the week of November 12-19, both indices fell 3.6 percent as a result of the lower international prices of metals and the restructuring of investment portfolios.

Year-to-date, the indices of the LSE accumulate losses of 25.8 and 27.7 percent, respectively.

MONTHLY REPORT

Gross Domestic Product grew 4.4 percent in September

The GDP grew 4.4 percent in September, reflecting the performance observed in the sectors of trade and services. With this, GDP accumulates a growth rate of 4.9 percent in the first nine months of the year.

Activity in the agricultural sector increased 1.7 percent in September as a result of a greater supply of agricultural products for the domestic market and a greater supply of livestock products. As a result of this, the sector accumulates a growth rate of 1.7 percent in the period of January-September.

Fishing recorded a decline of 7.1 percent due to a lower catch of giant squid for the industry of frozen seafood products for human consumption. With this result, the sector accumulates year an increase of 0.3 percent between January and September.

Activity in the mining and hydrocarbons sector decreased 2.1 percent due to a lower extraction of iron, gold, and zinc. In the first nine months of the year, the sector accumulates a growth rate of 1.7 percent.

resumen informativo

Manufacturing production grew 3.7 percent, with primary manufacturing activities growing 10.1 percent while non-primary manufacturing grew 2.8 percent. Increased activity in the branches of electrical machinery, rubber, basic chemicals, transport equipment, other paper and cardboard items, and metal products is worth pointing out in the latter. The sector accumulates a growth of 1.5 percent in the period of January - September.

Activity in the construction sector fell 1.3 percent in September due mainly to the contraction of the domestic consumption of cement (-1.2 percent) as a result of the slower pace of growth registered in self-construction. In the period of January–September, the construction sector accumulates a growth rate of 10.5 percent.

Indicators – October 2013

Preliminary data available to date of indicators on the sectors of fishing, hydrocarbons, electricity, and local dispatches of cement include the following:

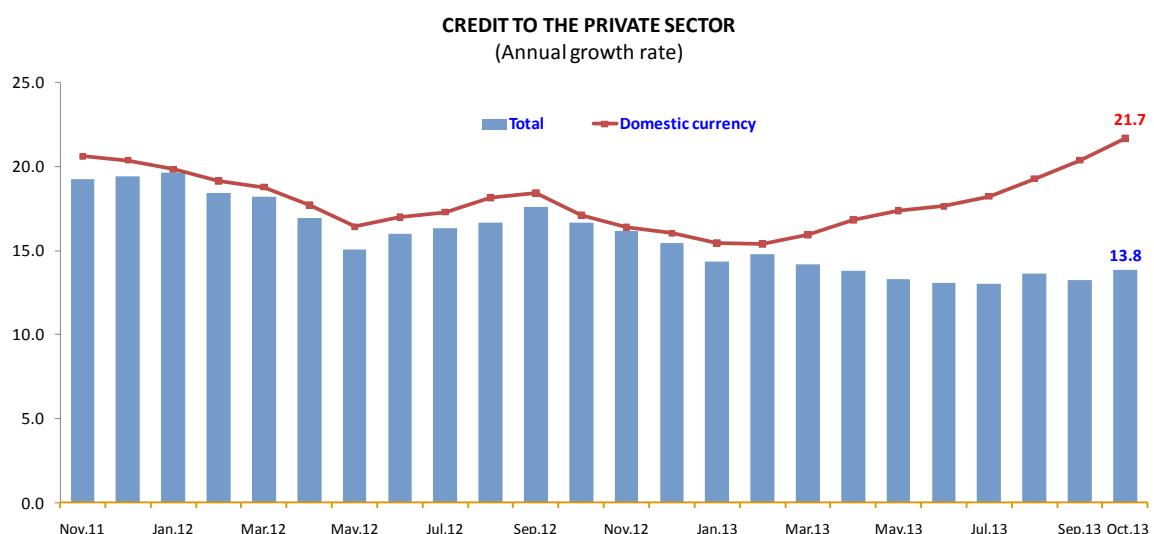

- Anchovy catch increased from 0.2 to 2.7 thousand tons between October 2012 and October 2013, according to the daily report on industrial fishing of Instituto del Mar del Perú (IMARPE).
- The production of hydrocarbons fell 4.4 percent, according to Perupetro.
- The production of electricity increased 7.6 percent according to Comité de Operación Económica del Sistema Interconectado Nacional (COES).
- Local dispatches of cement rose from 904 thousand tons to 939 thousand tons between October 2012 and October 2013, according to Asociación de Productores de Cemento.

Liquidity and credit to the private sector at October 31

Total credit to the private sector increased 1.3 percent in October (S/. 2.39 billion), as a result of which credit to the private sector accumulated a growth of 13.8 percent compared to October 2012 (13.2 percent in September).

Credit to the private sector means financing to businesses and households through of loans and acquisitions of fixed income securities. Their coverage reaches total credit extended by financial institutions that take deposits, which includes commercial banks, the National Bank, financial companies, municipal savings and credit, rural savings and credit, and credit unions.

Credit in soles recorded a monthly growth rate of 1.9 percent in October (S/. 2.14 billion) and a rate of 21.7 percent in the last twelve months (20.4 percent in September), which includes loans to companies with an annual growth of 24.6 percent. Credit in dollars showed a monthly rate of 0.3 percent (US$ 99 million) and an annual growth of 3.6 percent (3.9 percent in September).

The growth of credit showed a recovery in October, especially in the segment of corporate loans. Credit to businesses grew 1.4 percent in the month (1.1 percent in September), while credit to households grew 1.1 percent (1.3 percent in September). On the other hand, in the segment of credit to individuals, consumer loans registered a monthly growth rate of 1.2 percent in October, (a similar rate to the one recorded in September), while mortgage loans registered a monthly growth rate of 1.1 percent (1.4 percent in September).

Total liquidity in the private sector increased 0.3 percent in October (S/. 512 million), as a result of which the annual growth rate of liquidity in the private sector went from 13.6 percent in September to 12.8 percent in October. Liquidity includes notes and coins in circulation and total sources raised through demand deposits, savings and term deposits and other financial obligations held by businesses and households.

This monthly growth of liquidity is explained both by higher deposits from the public (up 0.2 percent or S/. 250 million) and by the increase of currency in circulation (0.6 percent or S/. 208 million). By type of deposits, it is worth highlighting that the increase in savings deposits (1.2 percent or S/. 538 million) was in part offset by lower term deposits (down 0.4 percent, or negative flow of S/. 230 million).

Liquidity in soles grew 0.7 percent in October (S/. 874 million), as a result of which it recorded a growth rate of 11.7 percent in the last twelve months (13.9 percent in September). On the other hand, liquidity in dollars decreased 0.6 percent in the month (negative flow of US$ 142 million) and grew 15.1 percent compared to October 2012 (13.0 percent in September).
