INTERNATIONAL MARKETS

Price of zinc rises in international markets

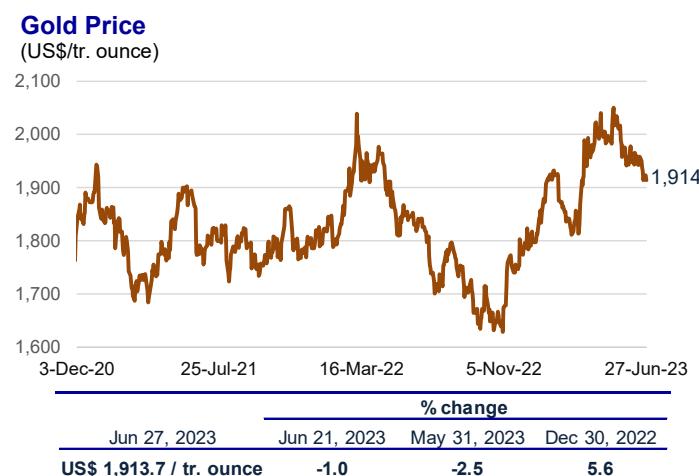

Between June 21 and June 27, the price of zinc rose 1 percent to US$ 1.07 the pound, due to the decrease in inventories at the London Metal Exchange.

Between June 21 and 27, the copper price fell 1.4 percent to US$ 3.80 per pound due to signs of lower demand from China (S&P cut its Chinese growth forecast for this year) and by fears of a slow down in the Eurozone, as well as higher interest rate hike prospects.

In the same period, the gold price fell 1 percent to US$ 1,913.7 the ounce, consistent with the appreciation of the dollar against a basket of major currencies and due to the rising U.S. Treasury Bond yields.

From June 21 to 27, the price of WTI oil fell 6.3 percent to US$ 67.7 per barrel, due to expectations of interest rate hikes in the Eurozone following Lagarde's statement, who announced that there will be a new interest rate hike in July, and by fears of a global recession.

Food prices rise in international markets

Between June 21 and June 27, wheat price decreased 1 percent to US$ 374.2 per ton due to the arrival of the United States winter wheat crop and high Russian exports.

In the analyzed period, the price of maize decreased 10.4 percent to US$ 233.9 per ton due to rains in Nebraska and South Dakota (prospects of higher humidity in the first half of July, a key month for yields) and because the level of ethanol blending in the United States was maintained (an increase was expected in 2024 and 2025).

The price of soybean oil fell 1.8 percent between June 21 and June 27, and settled at US$ 1,351.8 per ton, as a result of the renewed rain forecast for the main U.S. producing areas during the first half of July.

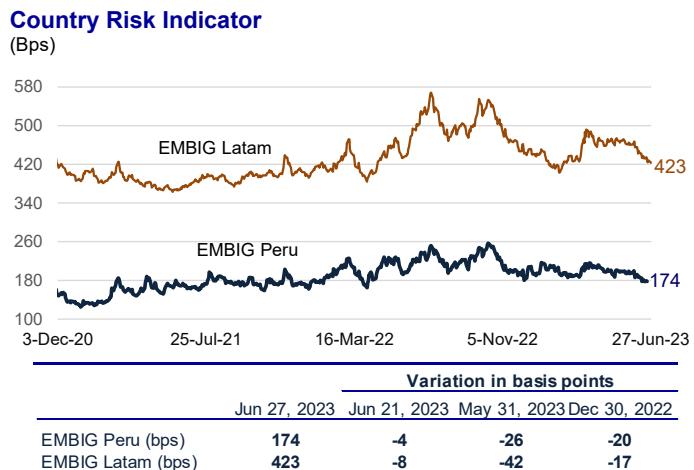

Dollar appreciates in international markets

In the same period, the dollar index rose 0.5 percent. The appreciation of the dollar occurred in a context in which the markets expect additional interest rate increases by the Federal Reserve. The dollar appreciated against the yen (1.5 percent) due to the Bank of Japan's continued expansionary monetary policy.

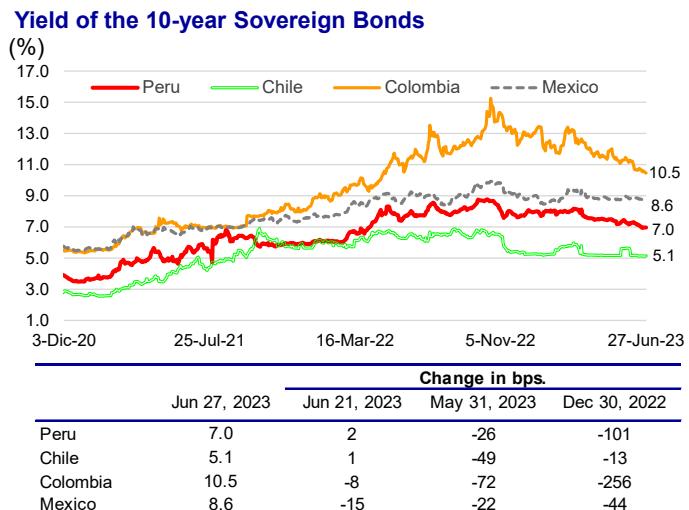

Country risk reached 174 basis points

Between June 21 and June 27, the EMBIG Peru indicator decreased 4 bps to 174 bps while the EMBIG Latin America decreased 8 bps to 423 bps in an environment of positive indicators in U.S. manufacturing and housing markets.

From June 21 to 27, the General Index of the Lima Stock Exchange (IGBVL-Peru General) decreased 1.4 percent and the Selective Index (ISBVL-Lima 25) fell 1.5 percent due to the decrease in the mining and financial sectors.
